

ROBBERS ENTER HIGH SCHOOL AT AMBOY IN NIGHT

Sewing Machine and Typewriters Are Taken

Amboy high school was the scene of a robbery last night when thieves entered the building by breaking a glass in the fire door and took four Woodstock typewriters and a Singer electric sewing machine.

By smashing the glass in the door with a brick which was found on the floor this morning, the robbers were able to release the latch and enter the assembly room. From there, it is thought, they went to the commercial room where they took the typewriters. Twenty typewriters were left untouched. The school office was entered but nothing was disturbed. Mr. Funkhouser, principal of the school, reported that the office door was probably left unlocked last night and no force was needed to enter. In the sewing room one of the five sewing machines was taken and exit was made through the south wing of the building.

Three Windows Broken

After inspecting the building Mr. Funkhouser reported three windows were broken and damaged was done to several doors.

Sheriff Ward T. Miller and Deputy G. P. Finch went to Amboy this morning and are continuing an investigation. No definite clues have been obtained as yet.

Notice of the robbery and the articles taken was broadcast through the state radio police system this morning after the sheriff's return to Dixon.

Two high school boys reported this morning that they had seen a car parked in the school yard about 11 o'clock last night, but could offer no other information.

CAIRO STRIKE SETTLED TODAY

Cairo, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Full operations were resumed today at the Cairo terminal of the Federal barge lines following the signing of a contract settling a two-week strike and granting 300 laborers union recognition, pay increases and other concessions.

The contract, recognizing the international longshoremen's association, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, provided there was to be no strike or lockout for any reason for the period of a year. An 8-hour day was established for the freight handlers, who were given increases of 5 cents an hour, bringing their pay to 45 cents an hour, time and a half for overtime and holidays, a guarantee of four hours employment any day they were called to work, and seniority in hiring.

St. Louis, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The 213 stevedores employed by the Federal barge lines here and in East St. Louis, Ill., were back at work today after a 36-hour walkout in sympathy with a strike by fellow-workers at Cairo, Ill.

Officials of the line said the men returned to their jobs when they learned the Cairo strike had been settled. Details of the settlement were not known at the St. Louis office, however.

EMPTY HOT DOGS

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—What would you do with an empty hot dog? Thieves broke into the U. S. S. beef and provisions plant during the night and stole $1,600 worth of sausage casings.

Double Mileage

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The special session of Congress will permit members to collect mileage to and from Washington at the stipulated rate of 20 cents a mile.

They will get the same remuneration for the regular 1938 session.

The special session probably will end just in time for the regular session to convene Jan. 3. Even those Senators and Representatives who do not go home for the holidays will be entitled to collect.

Visitors to Wallis Warfield's Old Home Climb Into Bathtub

Baltimore, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Maybe it works and maybe not, but Mrs. W. W. Matthews said most of the visitors to Wallis Warfield's former home sit in the bathtub for luck.

Mrs. Matthews, "hostess" at the little house on Biddle street, explained an English woman started the practice shortly after the house opened as a museum.

"She said it was good luck to sit in the tubs of famous women," Mrs. Matthews related. "She said she had sat in lots of famous tubs all over Europe—Cleopatra's and Marie Antoinette's. She was determined to get into the tub and she did."

The tub doesn't look like a bathtub—it's just an ordinary white bathtub on legs, the sort found in lots of old houses. It doesn't match the flashing facsimiles of the five crowns Edward, King of England, gave up to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

Mrs. Matthews said she doesn't know whether to believe all that about the tub, but her visitors do.

"Nine out of ten of them get into it," she said, "men, women and children. They get me to take their pictures. One bride and groom got in, huddled, and handed me the camera."

She didn't know whether it made any difference in the luck if the tubs were full or empty. But so far, she was very positive, they've all chosen it empty.

Old Law Works

Windsor, Conn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—An ancient statute forbidding persons "to blaspheme against God, any person of the Holy Trinity or the Christian religion" is still a workable law in Connecticut, Kenneth Aldridge of Windsor learned when the town court fined him $10.

The charge arose from remarks Aldridge allegedly made to constable Fred Munsell who arrested him Sunday on a speed count.

Aldridge also was fined $10 on the speeding charge yesterday. He appealed the blasphemy conviction.

THREE MEMBERS OF LABOR BOARD ARE UNDER FIRE

Their Removal Demanded by American Federation of Labor

Denver, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention decided unanimously today to ask congress to curb the powers of the National Labor Relations Board.

Denver, Oct. 13.—(AP)—John P. Frey, president of the American Federation of Labor's metal trades department, today demanded the removal of three labor relations board officials for what he said was their activity in behalf of the CIO.

They are regional directors Eli-nore Herrick of New York, Mrs. Rossiter of San Francisco and Myers of Boston.

All three, Frey said, "were trying to build up the membership of the CIO" at the A. F. of L.'s expense.

Frey made this demand during debate on a report from the A. F. of L. convention resolutions committee, recommending that the board's powers be curbed.

As for the board itself, Frey said the A. F. of L. respected the "integrity" of Chairman J. Warren Madden but that the federation's attitude toward the other two members—Edwin S. Smith and Donald Wakefield—was "not the same."

He told the convention that Edwin S. Smith gave a private dinner in Washington last June at which John L. Lewis, CIO leader, and the counsel of the Russian embassy were guests.

At the time, Frey said, many cases involving the CIO-A. F. of L. disputes were pending before the board.

"Had Much in Common"

Lewis and the Russian diplomat, Frey asserted, "had much in common."

"One wanted Communism spread in this country as rapidly as possible," he said.

"The other had Communists on his payroll."

The resolutions committee called on the A. F. of L. to seek an end to "unscrupulous authority now being exercised" by the national labor relations board in adjustment of labor disputes.

The committee charged the board had unlawfully:

(1) "Repeatedly denied employees the right of designating the collective bargaining unit, and have thereby denied employees the right of selecting representatives of their own choosing with full freedom."

Contracts Attacked

"Attempted to destroy the validity of contracts entered into between legitimate labor organizations and their employers. . . in some instances with full knowledge of the facts involved, and in others without any apparent effort to ascertain the facts."

The report said "accumulated evidence has made it evident that the regional representatives of the board on many occasions have endeavored to negotiate, to conciliate, mediate and in some instances, to compel the adjustment of an industrial dispute, and in the face of vigorous protests of organized workers involved."

"The national labor relations act specifically implies that its provisions"

3,000 JAPANESE SOLDIERS DIED IN FUTILE MOVE

Chinese Repulsed Concentrated Attack Near Shanghai Today

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A Chinese spokesman declared today that Japanese forces had lost more than 3,000 dead and wounded in a disastrous attempt to crash the Chinese lines across Wentsaopang creek into Tazang, four miles northwest of the International Settlement.

The Japanese army used 15,000 men in its desperate thrust. One Japanese flying column pushed ahead of the main body three miles to the outskirts of Tazang where a murderous machine gun and hand grenade fire forced it to retire to the original position.

Tazang is the most strongly defended town on the Chinese battle line. Its capture by the Japanese might force the Chinese troops to withdraw from the hotly-contested Chapei sector in order to escape being flanked and surrounded from the west.

Despite withering fire from land, sea and air the Chinese clung to their lines on all other fronts in the Shanghai district.

While Japanese planes resumed dropping bombs on Chapei a few yards outside the International Settlement boundary, the echo of their staccato machine-gunning of two British motor cars late yesterday was creating more international consternation.

Possible Repercussions

Although no official statements had been made it was learned that the attack might have British, Italian and Russian repercussions since citizens of those nations were passengers in the automobiles.

The passengers were understood to be: Flight Lieutenant S. S. Murray, assistant British air attaché; Capt. W. L. Shinn, British, of the China Navigation Company; M. Braham, British, formerly of the Chinese Railway Administration; C. Marshall, British; Lieut. Francesco Rebezz, of the Italian navy; M. Shatov, secretary to the Soviet military attaché; and an unnamed Russian woman.

The Japanese planes attacked the foreign cars near Minghong, 16 miles from Shanghai, while they were en route from the Chinese capital at Nanking.

A Russian driver for the American-owned Bills Motor Co., D. E. Pittinghoff, said he was driving a flagless pilot car containing Rebezz, Braham and a Chinese newspaper man a half mile ahead of the other two cars and was not attacked.

AFTER CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Nanking, Oct. 13.—(AP)—High Chinese authorities tonight charged that the airplane machine-gunning of a British embassy automobile yesterday at Minghong was an attempt by Japanese to kill Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Authorities tonight disclosed that the Generalissimo, in whom Chinese civil and military authorities lie, now is somewhere in the vicinity of Shanghai inspecting defense lines on that front.

(Minghong, where three British embassy automobiles were fired on yesterday, without casualty to any of their occupants, is about 14 miles from Shanghai on the road to Nanking.)

Chiang left Nanking this morning but he originally intended to leave yesterday, the Chinese said, causing the Japanese to patrol the highway from the air in hope of killing him.

Nanking, China's capital, was warned four times today, the last time after nightfall, by air raid alarms but no Japanese planes appeared. They were reported instead to have raided numerous towns along the Shanghai-Nanking railway. Details were lacking.

Girl Fatally Shot by Man to Whom Her Two Escorts Offered Help

Mishawaka Officers Face Unusual Murder Mystery

Mishawaka, Ind., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old Melba Moore, daughter of a village truck driver, was shot fatally last night by a motorist to whom her two boy companions intended to be Samaritans.

Charles Walton, 17, one of the girl's escorts on a night ride about the countryside, had a slight shoulder wound which he told Sheriff William Hosinski was inflicted by one of six bullets fired by a middle-aged man standing by a motor apparently stalled along the by-road on which they were driving. The other boy Adolph Stopper, 20, was uninjured.

Stopper, for two years a frequent caller at the Moore home, said he picked up Melba early last evening, later meeting Walton.

After taking his father, Leo Stopper, home from the factory where he is employed, the trio went to a barbecue stand for sandwiches.

Were After Rabbits

From the barbecue stand, Stopper told the sheriff, he started to drive to the Moore home in the village of Granger, northeast of Mishawaka near the Indiana-Michigan state line.

They chose a circuitous route over a little used highway, Stopper said, in order to run down rabbits. The youth said he passed a car parked on the road and seeing a man standing beside it, decided to offer assistance.

Stopper said that as he backed his machine the man cursed in broken English and began firing. One of the first shots came through the back window of his machine and hit Melba in the back of the head, he said.

Stopper said he drove quickly and sped with Melba to her home. Her father took her to the hospital where she died.

Special Session Twenty-Fifth Of Kind In History

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The forthcoming special session of Congress will be the twenty-fifth of its type since Congress first gathered on March 4, 11989.

There have been six extra sessions in the last 20 years, as many as were held in the first half century of the present Constitution. The first Congress had an extra session.

The sixty-seventh Congress in 1921-22 was the only one which had two extra sessions.

This is the second called by President Roosevelt. He summoned the seventy-third Congress into special session on March 9, 1933.

"Fireside Chat" In White House Room Minus Fireplace

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The stern features of former presidents and the smiling ones of one-time first ladies looked down on President Roosevelt during his "fireside chat" last night.

The oval broadcasting room at the White House is hung with paintings of the executive mansion's former occupants.

There is a large mirror, rose window drapes, a rug of deeper hue, a desk and, of course, the microphones.

But there is no fireplace.

Labor Department Seeks Settlement Of Chester Rift

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—At the request of union officials, the state labor department sought today to settle a labor dispute at the Chester hosiery mills at Chester.

William Murray, arbitrator, was sent to Chester after Walter Truman, manager of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, demanded an investigation of the reported assault on Peter Fagerbaugh, an organizer.

Peorian Elected Coal Producers Association Head

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—W. C. Gill of Peoria was re-elected president of the Coal Producers Association of Illinois at its annual meeting here yesterday. The association deals with the Progressive Miners of America in contract matters.

Glenn A. Shafer of Pana was re-elected secretary-treasurer and D. W. Green of O'Fallon vice-president.

Past Revealed

St. Paul, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The past finally caught up with Herbert Starke of St. Paul in Municipal court, where he pleaded guilty to drunkenness.

Judge John W. Finehour asked him, "Have you ever been arrested before?"

"Well," Starke admitted ruefully, "back in 1906 I was arrested for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk."

The judge suspended a 15 day workhouse sentence.

ROOF FIRE AT FARM

The community fire truck was summoned to the Hill Den farm west of Dixon on the Lincoln highway at 1 o'clock this afternoon where a minor roof fire was extinguished with slight damage to the property.

CHINESE CAR HERE

A large sedan which attracted considerable attention about noon yesterday, passed through Dixon, stopping at the Barriage service station. The machine, a right hand drive Cadillac sedan, bore the imperial Chinese insignia and license plates from Shanghai. A chauffeur was driving the car to New York City.

MINOR ACCIDENT

C. V. Chapman escaped injury this morning at 8 o'clock in an automobile accident on First street and Hennepin avenue when a truck loaded with lime rock and driven by Floyd Galentine crashed into the side of his car at the intersection. The car was considerably damaged. Lime rock was strewn over the street for some distance.

BALL PLAYERS' AUTO

Police yesterday afternoon ordered a Lincoln sedan which had been parked since Sunday, hauled to a local garage pending investigation. Last evening members of Gabby Hartnett's baseball team, which appeared at Walton Sunday, came to the police station and claimed the car which had been left here Sunday for repairs.

SEEMS TO BE HABIT

Arthur Greenwood of Jacksonville, Ill., came to Dixon yesterday to visit his daughter, a patient at the Dixon state hospital, and last evening police were called to Brinton avenue and McKinney street where they found him lying on the sidewalk. In taking him into custody, Greenwood was reported to have objected to the officers disturbing his slumber. This morning in default of a $15 fine, he was sent to the county jail on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct. Greenwood on previous visits, had been escorted from the city and fines suspended in police court for his misbehavior.

Hike to Hollywood Ended by Officers

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Three girls who said they were Cleveland high school students hitch-hiking their way to Hollywood and jobs in the movies were picked up today by state highway policemen whom they hailed for a ride.

They were taken to the county jail pending arrival of Cleveland welfare agency workers. The girls, who said they attended West High school in the Ohio city, gave their names as Helen Jason, 16, Bessie and Anna Jangovich, 15 and 16.

Two Dollar Bills Getting Scarcer

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two dollar bills are getting scarcer.

These notes in the hands of the public totaled $33,000,000 on Aug. 31, compared with $41,000,000 in August, 1936, and $62,000,000 in August, 1929.

Treasury officials said they did not know why the circulation of these notes has dropped, unless it is because many people consider them unlucky.

All for a Dime

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—(AP)—"Step right up, ladies and fents! Grab hold of this million dollars! Feel it, hold it in your hands for only one dime—the tenth part of a dollar!"

"That's the kind of concession a group of San Franciscans wants to operate at the 1938 Golden Gate International Exposition. It proposes cashing in on the fact few persons have seen $1,000,000 and hope that enough would pay a dime to boast they had."

Holds Marriage Licenses Issued To Non-Indiana Folks Are Void

Crown Point, Ind., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Fred A. Egan, Lake county prosecutor, said today he had advised County Clerk George W. Sweigart of this Indiana Gretna Green to halt the sale of marriage licenses to couples from outside the county.

Egan said he informed the county clerk in a letter that licenses issued to non-residents in Lake county were illegal and void.

Thousands of Illinois couples, most of them from Chicago, obtained licenses here to evade Illinois' new law requiring medical certificates from applicants.

Egan said his action was based on an opinion by Omar S. Jackson, Indiana attorney general, in which Jackson quoted an old Indiana code of 1852, which specified:

"Before any person shall be joined in marriage they shall produce a license from the clerk of the Circuit Court of the county in which the female resides."

BRADY MOBSTER REVEALS STORY OF GANG'S LIFE

Survivor of Bangor Battle Confesses Three Killings

Bangor, Me., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Captain Frank Foley of the Bangor police said today James Dalhovey, wounded survivor of the G-men's ambush of the dread Al Brady gang, had confessed the band had slain three policemen.

Captain Foley said he heard the sulky prisoner, during an all-night questioning, admit to federal agents the gang had killed Richard Rivers, an Indianapolis police sergeant; Paul Minneman, an Indiana state trooper; and a Freeport, Ohio, highway patrolman, George Conn.

Dalhovey, his skull creased by a bullet, surrendered after a squad of federal sleuths shot and killed Al Brady, John Dillinger's "successor," and the gang's youthful "triggerman" Clarence Lee Shaffer, 21, yesterday in a dramatic five-minute gun battle on a Bangor street.

Foley said the captured gunman also accused Brady of "knocking off" a grocery clerk but said he did not know the victim's name or where the slaying occurred. G-men, however, have charged the gang with the death of Edward Lindsay, a Piqua, O., grocery clerk.

Gave "Complete Story"

"I guess he's given them (the federal agents) a pretty complete story of the gang's movement since they broke out of jail a year ago," Foley said after the night-long examination in the farmboy gunman's cell.

Foley said Dalhovey, whose entry into a Bangor sports goods store sprang the federal trap, appeared shaken by the lengthy questioning and the effects of his wound.

When the Brady gangsters fled from an Indiana jail one year ago, they had but $12 among them, Foley said Dalhovey told the federal agents.

The policemen revealed the three men had about $5,000 on their persons yesterday.

Meanwhile, as authorities of Indiana, Ohio and Maryland awaited official federal word as to where Dalhovey first would answer charges, ranging from murder to jewel robbery, Walter Nash, 28-year-old G-man, wounded in the mid-morning fusillade, recuperated from a clean flesh wound in the shoulder.

Mrs. Cunningham of Polo is Dead

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Sarah Cunningham passed away at 11:44 o'clock last evening at the home of her brother, Albert J. Sweet of this city. Funeral services will be held at the Sweet home at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon and at the Lutheran church at 2:30, the Rev. C. D. Kammeyer officiating, and with burial in Fairmount.

Sarah Sweet was born near Polo Sept. 28, 1875 and was married June 1, 1910 to Frank Cunningham. She is survived by two brothers, Albert J. and John Sweet, both of Polo; a half-sister, Mrs. S. I. Doty, of Polo; and several nieces and nephews, among them Leslie and Harold Coss, both of Dixon.

McCarthy is Given Better Contract

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Joe McCarthy today signed a three-year contract to manage the world's champion New York Yankees at a salary of $35,000 per year, Edward G. Barrow, general manager of the club announced.

McCarthy and Col. Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, came to an agreement after a few minutes' discussion.

The Yankee manager won three pennants and finished second four times in the seven years he managed the Yankees. His New York teams have won three world's series.

McCarthy will go to his home at Buffalo tomorrow for a rest. He will pay another visit to club headquarters here before the major league meetings in Chicago in December.

kuo report serious unrest among the 30,000 Chinese inhabitants of Emperor Kang Teh's Japanese-organized empire.

Disaffection is said to be acute, especially among some Chinese members of Manchoukuo's army who are reported to be showing tendencies to sympathize with kinsmen fighting against Japan in China proper.

Travelers say the Japanese added 100,000 native troops to the regular Manchoukuo army, which is composed of Chinese subjects of Kang Teh, owing to the internal situation.

100 Killed in Madrid

(The official Spanish press agency reported 100 persons were killed and 200 wounded in a heavy insurgent shelling of Madrid Monday night.)

Franco's Salamanca headquarters reported general insurgent advances on Gijon, on the Bay of Biscay in northwestern Spain, and new villages and heights brought under insurgent control in the Cangas sector, as well as mountainous territory north of the Oviedo-Leon provincial border.

20,000 REBELS SLAIN

Madrid, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Spanish government officials said today 20,000 insurgents had been killed in the 48-day old offensive in the Asturias.

Dispatches from Gijon said insurgent aviators swept down and machine-gunned many people fleeing across fields from Cangas de Onis which was reported razed by 600 explosive incendiary bombs.

The smoldering ruins were said still to be held by government forces, but elsewhere the insurgents were slowly advancing, with many losses in hand to hand fighting. Government troops have retreated from the villages of Vallodil Bada and San Martin de Bada after being bombarded for many days.

The Madrid sector was comparatively quiet.

Three airplanes dropped 30 bombs near Barcelona without damage.

NATURE WORKS CROP CONTROL PLAN HERSELF

Dry Conditions Not Favorable to 1938 Winter Wheat

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The weather bureau said today nature was operating a crop control program of her own in the winter wheat belt.

The bureau said widespread reports indicated a persistent lack of moisture in important areas. This, officials explained, may eliminate prospects of heavy yields of wheat in 1938.

Grains planted in western states early this fall have been slow in sprouting, the bureau said, while late sown grains have germinated unevenly, with the soil in some regions "too dry for further winter wheat seeding."

Dry conditions were listed for parts of Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

In marked contrast, the bureau said recent rains have been very helpful in North Dakota and Montana, areas devastated by recent droughts. Fall rainfall in Montana was reported "best in years" and heavy enough to store an ample moisture reserve.

Except for the midwest dry area, the bureau said recent weather had favored fall farm work generally.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

BRETHREN CHURCH REVIVAL

Every community is justly proud of their young people who succeed in life, and this community will be happy to know that Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson who entered the ministry less than two years ago have been making good, and will begin a revival meeting in the local Brethren church next Sunday. Paul and his wife are pastor of the Conway Springs, Kansas Brethren church, and their church has kindly given them time off for three revival meetings in Illinois this fall. They have already conducted two of these meetings with success and the Dixon meeting will be the third and last after which they will return to their work in Kansas. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are gifted along musical lines and they will cooperate with the choir in furnishing high grade singing and music for the meeting. Paul and his wife both sing, and Mrs. Thompson plays the piano. Paul plays the violin and the trombone. Since Paul is the son of Rev. and Mrs. William E. Thompson, pastor of the local church it is needless to say that they are elated over the opportunity of having Paul and his good wife conduct this series of meetings.

The first service will be Sunday morning at 11 o'clock with services each evening for two weeks, except Saturday nights. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy these services.

Killing Frosts Likely Tonight

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Heavy to killing frosts were forecast for central and northern Illinois by the weather bureau, which said light frosts were possible in the extreme south.

Farmers showed little concern, for the weekly crop bulletin of the bureau said killing frosts were reported in some localities a week ago, adding:

"Vegetation generally was too far advanced to be materially injured, and the frost where heavy or killing was favorable in promoting drying of corn and soybeans."

As flocks of wild geese flew southward, the temperature dropped to 34 degrees at Peoria last night and was within ten degrees of the freezing point in most of the state.

DISCLOSE SPLIT IN COMMISSION OVER PATRONAGE

Attempt To Account For Expenditures Is Rebuffed

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—John C. Lewis, Des Moines, Ia., member of the federal coal commission created by Congress to regulate the soft coal industry, disclosed today a split in the seven-member board over distribution of patronage and personnel.

Lewis, who was backed by John L. Lewis, the CIO labor leader, for his place on the commission, announced he had asked Senator Herring (D-Ia.) to seek from commission officials an accounting of expenditures and a list of jobs and their salaries.

Only two days ago Lewis and two other members of the commission, were defeated by a 4 to 3 vote in an effort to keep commission meetings open to the public and news reporters. At that time Commissioner Lewis said he was "getting sick and tired of being hooked in the back and buffeted about like a jackass."

He said the work of the commission "wouldn't do credit to a 10-year-old boy."

In a letter to Senator Herring, Lewis included a copy of a resolution he submitted to the commission asking for a list of the coal commission jobs and salaries. It was turned down by a majority of the members.

Charges Discrimination

"There has been a decided attempt on the part of the commission to run its affairs without any regard for the rights of each individual commissioner," Lewis wrote the senator.

In a memorandum accompanying the resolution, Lewis charged that some members of the board were allowed to select personnel for only one of two statistical bureaus attached to the commission, while others were allotted as many as 11 statistical bureaus to fill with appointments.

Lewis' allies in the minority faction include Commissioners Percy Tietlow, another commission protégé of John L. Lewis, and Pleas Greenlee, one time Democratic leader in Indiana under the regime of former Governor Paul V. McNutt.

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Completed Book On World Situation

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has written a book on the international situation, it was learned in publishing circles.

The volume is titled "This Troubled World." The President's wife, it is understood, presents her own ideas and suggestions for peace.

The book, of 50 pages, will be published January 3 by H. C. Kinsey & Co. Mrs. Roosevelt, according to George Bye, her literary agent, completed the work on her recent trip to the west coast.

Mrs. Roosevelt's autobiography, "This Is My Story," will be published by Harper & Brothers in November.

Four-Year Home Accounts Show Buying Changes

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 13.—Eighty-four Illinois farm families pointing the way to trends in consumer buying through home accounts kept over a continuous period of four years, showed that with rising incomes first consideration goes for more and better food, shelter, transportation and clothing.

The records carried from 1932 to 1936 showed that for the majority of the families the average income changed from $1,349 in 1932 to $1,849 in 1935. Of this group, families remaining in the medium and high income levels during the entire period, responded first to rising incomes by changing their food habits even more rapidly than price-level changes, while the low income families although spending more for food tended to control costs.

All three groups, it was found, decreased savings in 1935, not in the amount of life-insurance premiums which increased from $125 a family in 1932 to $134 in 1935, but in savings for specific purposes such as education for the children or home improvement.

Gaining expenditures for shelter, including repairs and furnishings, tripled in 1935 over the amount that was spent in 1932. Repairs for the home, the trend of interest in 1934, changed to home equipment purchasing in 1935. Stoves took the lead in purchases both years with some type of oil or gas stove proving popular in 1934 and electric stoves in high favor in 1935. Refrigerators and washing machines were other major pieces of equipment purchased. Some buying in 1935 was done on the payment plan although little credit of this type had been used previously by these families. Large purchases, such as an automobile, were made at the time the crop was sold as a cash transaction.

Clothing costs also came up through purchase of more items of clothing rather than payment of a higher price. Coats and accessories led the list of purchases, and better quality shoes were bought.

Missionary Guild Host to Sterling Members on Friday

The Missionary Guild of the Christian church met Friday evening, Oct. 8 at the church with 20 members of the Sterling Guild as guests. A delicious chicken dinner was served at 7 o'clock. A brief business meeting was held with Lucille Poole as president, presiding. Mrs. Wells had charge of the devotion and program. Mrs. Flannigan gave a short talk, "The Work of Our Hands." Mrs. Wells introduced Mrs. Edith Hall who gave a very interesting and instructive talk on Mexico and exhibited many hand-made Mexican articles. Mrs. Fine, president of the visiting Guild, thanked the Dixon ladies for a very pleasant evening. The meeting closed with the guild benediction.

FIRST MEETING OF P. T. A. OF STONY POINT SCHOOL

The Stony Point P. T. A. met for the October meeting on Friday night with a nice crowd in attendance. Miss N. Louise Nichol, R. N., of the Illinois state department of health addressed the group on the subject of "Communicable Diseases." She outlined many practical projects that might be carried on by Parent Teacher associations in the best interest of health for the school children, and she gave suggestions for specific work that the Stony Point P. T. A. might very profitably do. These are now under consideration by the committee appointed by the president, Mrs. McClanahan.

Mrs. Jessie Burtsfield, the Lee county school nurse, accompanied Miss Nicol. Other members of the program were: Article on Governor Horner's proclamation of Parent-Teachers' week by Mrs. Hink; reading of Superintendent Wetland's editorial, Miss Stanley's poem, "September," Delilah Laidig; piano solo, Mary Risley. During the social hour refreshments were served.

Nachusa School P. T. A. Elects Its Year's Officers

The last meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association was held at the Nachusa school, Wednesday, October 6.

Members elected for the year were: Mrs. Edward Johnson, president; William Schneider, vice-president; Mabelle Currens, secretary; John Weigle, treasurer. Five new members were admitted during the meeting.

The program of the evening consisted of a talk by Miss Esther Barton, principal of E. C. Smith school on "China and Japan," a drill by the school children and music by the Dixie Ramblers. Refreshments were then served and a social hour enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the Nachusa school at 8 P. M. Tuesday, November 4.

School Curriculum Lists Home-Making As New Vocation

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 13.—That home making as a vocation occupies an important place in the modern school curriculum is demonstrated by the plans announced for the Illinois Vocational Home Making Teachers' conference, to be held here October 21 and 22, merging into the meeting of the Illinois Home Economics association meeting October 22 and 23.

Home economics teachers from all sections of the state will attend the sessions of the two associated organizations, participating in a program which includes addresses by prominent speakers, and varied entertainment.

The home making teachers' conference will organize at 1:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, October 21, in the west ball room of the Faust hotel. Guest speakers include Miss Gladys Winegar of the head of the speech department of Rockford college, Miss Lita Law, Streator, Illinois, president, will preside. Entertainment includes a trip Friday afternoon to furniture factories and knitting mills in Rockford, and to nearby Oregon, where the late Lorado Taft's great Blackhawk statue and the famous Mississippi farm of former Governor Frank O. Lowden will be visited. There will be a tie at Rockford college late Friday afternoon.

The home making teachers' conference merges with the state home economics association meeting Friday evening, October 22, and Saturday, October 23, opening Friday evening with a reception at 6:30 in the grand ball room of the Faust hotel, followed by a banquet. Miss Jeanette Dickerson, president, will preside, and speakers will include Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of Rockford college, and Dr. Selmer Borg, superintendent of Rockford public schools.

Section meetings will be held Saturday morning, followed by a general session and business meeting. Speakers include Dr. Lydia Roberts, University of Chicago, who will discuss nutrition; Miss Mary Whitlock of the University of Illinois, whose topic is textiles, and Miss Elizabeth Wood, Metropolitan Housing council, who will discuss housing.

Girls' Influence on U. S. Stressed by ex-First Lady

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, president of the Girl Scouts, told their silver-jubilee convention today that girls strongly influence the United States.

Said the former president's wife: "Our girls, out of all proportion to their age, their experience, or their numbers, are exerting their influence x x x on our country."

"The old order changes. The world has been changing its ways. It does, during every quarter century. We hope we have been keeping pace with it in ways that are good. We hope we have seen some of its more general mistakes and have avoided them."

The convention was marked by homage to the late Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts in the United States.

Miss Ruth Finch Guest Of Honor

Last evening at the Coffee House, Miss Ruth Finch of Oak Park, Illinois was the guest of honor at a 7:30 dinner given by her cousin, Faith Finch. Eight girls attended the dinner and presented the guest of honor with a lovely rose satin house coat. After the dinner the hostess entertained her guests at the theater.

Miss Finch, is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Finch of 204 South Crawford Avenue, and left today for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will become the bride of Ralph Burrell of that city in the near future.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Earl Carlson of Lee Center, Mrs. Ray Finn, Misses Eleanor Scott and Mary Meade of Amboy, and Mrs. George Ives, Jr., of Franklin Grove.

P.E.O. Members at Luncheon, Meeting

Thirty members of the P. E. O. enjoyed lunch at the Coffee House, Sunday. The meeting was held later at the home of Mrs. A. F. Moore.

The program was given by Mrs. Charters, the topic being, "Guide For Music Lovers." Several piano selections were given by Mrs. Catherine Haefliger, Miss Clara Armstrong, and Miss Mildred Chesley to demonstrate the different types of music.

LINEN SHOWER

Author, Lecturer At High School P. T. A. Meeting

Dr. J. H. Williamson, noted author, lecturer, and former law enforcement commissioner of the city of Chicago, will be the speaker before the Dixon high school P. T. A. this evening. His subject will be "The Making and Breaking of a Nation."

Dr. Willis A. Sutton of Atlanta, Ga., formerly scheduled to appear before this group, found that conflicting train schedules would prevent his being present in time for the program.

Both of these gentlemen and Dr. Claude E. Vick, assistant state superintendent of Illinois will address the Lee county teachers institute tomorrow, in the high school auditorium and the public is invited to any or all of the institute sessions Thursday. Come and be the guests of the Lee county teachers. To conform to the later arrival of Dr. Sutton, Thursday's program will be as follows:

Wa-Tan-Ye Club Plans Important Meeting Soon

The Dixon Wa-Tan-Ye club met Thursday, October 7, at 7 P. M. After dinner the business meeting took place.

The president stressed a one hundred per cent attendance, especially at the next meeting, Thursday, October 21, at which time a very important matter will be brought before club members. A committee was appointed by the president and another one suggested. The meeting adjourned at 8 P. M.

The Wa-Tan-Ye club "Foremost-in-Service" is composed of business and professional women willing to devote extra time to civic enterprises. It is to them what the Lions, Rotary or Kiwanis are to the business and professional men. Service is the watchword where the individual or community is concerned. The Wa-Tan-Ye club stimulates responsibility toward others, making for better citizenship.

The Dixon Wa-Tan-Ye club received its charter September 9 in conjunction with the newly-organized Freeport club. The Morrison and Clinton clubs officiated at the presentation of the charter, and installation ceremony. The officers elected were: Lucille Poole, president; Leon Ort, secretary; Margaret Minnihan, treasurer. The Dixon Wa-Tan-Ye club is proud to present the following list of charter members: Katherine Ballou, Kathryn Beard, Olive Boos, Elsie Burns, Jessie Burtsfield, Eleanor Curtin, Lois M. Felows, Marie Kelly, Gladys Haugh, Lucille Hubbell, Elizabeth Maxwell, Alice Meppin, Martha Meppin, Margaret Minnihan, Hazel Miller, Helen Nagle, Edna Natress, Leone Ort, Helen Parker, Frances Patrick, Ora Penning, Lucille Poole, Merle Potter, Lucia Roberts, Elizabeth Rybick, Katherine Slaats, Helen Shickley, Mila Wahnke and Naomi Woll.

Practical Club Enjoys Meeting At Hart Home

A splendid meeting of the Practical club was held recently at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hart with 15 members present.

The usual business meeting was called during which the minutes were read and each member responded to roll call.

Mrs. Frances Mellott read an excellent article from the book, "Four Hundred Million Customers," by Carl Crow, relating the diverting adventures of an American advertising man in China. The book is an amusing study in human nature of Chinese pictured in many intriguing phases. Mrs. Mellott read a second article entitled, "You Can't Take It With You," by William Moulton Martson, pertaining to people wasting today's realities for tomorrow's speculation and later awakening to the fact that you cannot take yourself out of the present by giving your attentions to the happenings of tomorrow, but you can take one thing with you into the future, and that is the knowledge of how to live.

WE DON'T BELIEVE YOU, MR. BLACK

By Francis Doolan, Editor of "Newsdom"

Small men cannot do big things. Mr. Black, a small man, had his opportunity to do a big thing. He failed. The sacrifice would have been too much. Rather than resign an appointment he obtained under false pretenses he brazenly forced his mediocre company on the intellectual titans who sit on the Supreme Court.

Only a craven-hearted bigot, with no sense of values other than his own warped prejudices, would dare to commit the sacrilege of defiling the Supreme Court with the Pharisical nightshirt and the terroristic hood of a Klansman. Only a Klansman, a base politician and a hypocritical opportunist would dare to set himself up as his own judge and jury, plead guilty and acquit himself. For that is what Mr. Black did last Friday when he took to the air, hinted at persecution, confessed his love for Jews and Catholics and then summarily closed the entire incident.

But the incident is not closed. It cannot be closed while a self-confessed bigot sits on the highest tribunal of the land to administer justice. There can be no justice at the hands of a bigot, no more than there can be justice at the hands of a pop-eyed fanatic. Until the political chameleon, Klansman Black, is removed from the bench, the ghastly reflection of a sinister white robe will cast its macabre shadow over the court and tend to besmirch it. A pleasant thought for the mental ne'er-do-wells who call themselves liberals but who at heart would set up a dictatorship in this country by making political puppets of our judges. But not a pleasant thought for those who still believe in a judiciary free from the passing whims of whatever man may be sitting in the White House.

Mr. Black, only fools, petty ward-healers, violent partisans or the credulous believe that you have shuffled off your hood and gown. You were no mere boy when you joined the Klan and subscribed to its mumbo-jumbo. You were a grown being, hardly a man, but matured at least in the physiological sense. Your character, whatever its stripe, had already been set. You were forty years old. If you joined the Klan merely to sneak into the senate, then perhaps you are of that lower order of creatures who know not what it is to blush and repent. If, on the other hand, you joined the Klan because you were in sympathy with vandals who tar and feather those whose race or religious beliefs are not in harmony with your own then you have no right to sit in judgment on the 50,000,000 American citizens marked for persecution by you and your kind.

Throughout your life you have been associated with movements conceived in bigotry.

As an obscure lawyer in Birmingham, back in 1914, you were associated with the Guardians of Liberty, an organization which attracted the same shoddy element that later joined the revived Klan. Perhaps you want to forget, but you cannot forget the dismissal of Jews and Catholics who held public jobs in Birmingham. Perhaps you want to forget that this purge extended even to those who married Jews or Catholics.

No, Mr. Black. Do not boast of your Catholic and Jewish friends. You probably have them, for even a skunk has isolated playmates. But in your moulded mind Catholics, Jews, Negroes and foreign-born—as a class—are anathema to you. No strained plea for tolerance, after you have been caught with the goods, can clear your record.

Ten years or thereabouts, after your spree with the Guardians of Liberty you joined the Klan in the hopes of succeeding the late Senator Oscar Underwood, one of the finest statesmen who ever came out of a South famous for its statesmen. Underwood had attacked the Klan, bitterly, fearlessly. By doing so he signed his political death warrant. For Alabama, at that time, was a hotbed of fanaticism what with many ignorant worthies jumping around in nightshirts and scaring the devil out of those who worshipped the same God differently. You saw your chance, threw in your lot with the Klan and oozed into the Senate.

When you were stumping for the Senate nomination did you not attack Al Smith bitterly, knowing that such an attack in Alabama would serve your own selfish ends? And yet you dare to preach of tolerance.

As senator you failed to support Al Smith for the presidency even though he was the regular nominee of your party. Why?

You rely on your record as a senator to substantiate your twaddle about liberalism and tolerance. Yet in those rare instances when it was necessary for a senator to choose between political suicide and political opportunism you chose the latter.

Do you recall opposing passage of the anti-lynching bill? Are you in favor of lynching? Tacitly you must be. Hardly a stand for one who purports to be a liberal.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY by Baer

"I want to put an ad in The Telegraph lost and found section for a runaway horse and another for some orvestuffed furniture."

Do you recall the words you uttered on April 29, 1935 when the senate was debating the anti-lynching bill? You said:

"We will have made ourselves, it seems to me, just a little absurd in view of the magnificent progress which we have made and the improved relationship which exists between the races who live in the country, if we stop the real business of the senate in order to consider a measure which, according to the maximum figures, would have affected only fourteen people last year."

Judges should not take lightly the life of one person.

Do you recall supporting Senator Tom Heflin's bill to put an end to the practice of flying the church flag above the Stars and Stripes on American vessels while mass is being celebrated? Do you still naively believe that the Pope is coming over here to tell us how to run our temporal affairs, the affairs of state?

Do you recall conducting star chamber proceedings, bludgeoning witnesses, seizing private telegrams and otherwise harassing those who did not see eye to eye with you on political questions? Was your conduct during that lobby investigation the conduct of an impartial judge or the damnable inquisition of a narrow-minded tyrant whose entire career is spotted with bigotry? In the face of this investigation alone you are hardly the being to talk of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Your mutterings about such sacred things come with ill-grace from one who speaks from political expediency and not from a clean heart.

Do open-minded men cloak their actions in secrecy? You did to the very moment you put on your black robe with its lining of Klansman white. You kept as quiet as a church mouse when your name was before the Senate for confirmation and when it was charged that you had been a despicable night-rider. Where is your honesty?

When a supine Senate voted your confirmation you stole off and in the true tradition of a Klansman you took your Supreme Court oaths secretly. Why were you in such haste? Were you fearful lest you be found out before you commenced to draw your pay at the rate of $20,000 a year—double that which you received as representative of the Klan in the Senate?

Apart from the stealth and the most abhorrent manner in which you groveled to the bench your legal background is a sorry spectacle indeed to fit you for a judgeship. You haven't the qualifications of a notary public or justice of the peace, let alone the requirements necessary for one who must walk with giants versed in the law. You have been first and foremost a politician. Your career, if we are to dignify your Birmingham days thusly, has confined you to a bit of experience as a police magistrate, to a little daubing as a prosecutor and to a feeble thrust as counsel in petty damage suits.

You have neither the legal training nor the judicial temperament to sit on the Supreme Court. No doubt in a demagogic effort to confound your critics you will bend over backwards to prove that you are not the bigot you have been. But the country does not want a spineless politician for a judge. It wants one who will be impartial in rendering decisions. Even the Negro, the Catholic and the Jew can be wrong and the country will not be satisfied if your decisions are mere sops to the pressure of outraged public opinion.

You have only one course to take. Nobody can force you and as a small man we know you cannot do a big thing. But by resigning you can give the lie to your own admission in 1930 when, opposing Hugh M. Tate as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, you said:

"Show me the kind of steps a man made in the sand five years ago and I will show you the kind of steps he is likely to make in the same sand five years hence."

"Show me the course he was pursuing then, and, unless there has been some great cataclysm which has absolutely changed his character, I will show you the course he is going to follow in the future."

Mr. Black, we don't believe you.

DAHL, BAD CHECK PASSER IN U. S. RECORDS REVEAL

Flagstaff, Ariz., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Records of the Coconino county superior court here showed that a Harold E. Dahl, 28, aviator, was released from the county jail here Jan. 2, 1936, after serving two months of a one-year sentence imposed by Superior Judge Frank Harrison for issuing checks without sufficient funds.

In the summer and fall of 1935, Dahl, then a lieutenant in a CCC camp, records showed, cashed $255 in checks at various Flagstaff establishments.

County Attorney Karl Mengum, who prosecuted the case, said the Dahl arrested and convicted here is the American aviator saved last week from a Spanish rebel firing squad by a reprieve from General Francisco Franco.

"His picture in national magazines and in newspapers make identity certain," Mengum said.

Sheriff Arthur Vanevier reported that the Dahl known to his office was convicted of check charges in Evanston, Ill., in August, 1929, and was given probation on a similar offense in Los Angeles in January, 1936.

DAILY HEALTH

NO APPETITE?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

The healthy, active human being usually does not lack appetite. So when there is a marked decrease in the desire for food, there is usually something wrong somewhere. In that case, anorexia (the decrease in appetite) must be considered a symptom rather than a disease.

It isn't necessary to proceed at once to treat this symptom by stuffing the sufferer with food, or annoying him with injunctions to eat something. Skipping a meal or two never does harm, while loading the unwilling or disabled gastro-intestinal tract with foods it cannot handle usually complicates matters.

But the person "eating lightly" will do well to take plenty of fluids in the form of milk, light soups, sugar water, fruit syrups or juices in water. He should take more fluids than he usually does.

In the meantime, it is necessary to look into the cause of anorexia. Being a symptom, and a common one at that, it may point to the presence of any one of a vast number of disturbances.

In infants and children, "going off their food" is frequently the first sign of an oncoming respiratory or gastro-intestinal involvement. If there are other suggestive symptoms present, such as fever, a running nose, infected throat, diarrhea or constipation, it is better not to persist in feeding the protesting youngster.

Put him to bed and see what follows. If the symptoms do not abate promptly, within say six to eight hours, or if they are sufficiently marked when first observed, call your doctor.

In adults, too, loss of appetite appears early in the onset of infectious conditions, notably in colds. Mental or emotional depression is a common cause of anorexia. "It has taken away my appetite," is the way many a person characterizes the effects of some unpleasant or depressing incident, or, even more pointedly, he may say, "I'm so worried, I can't eat." Under such circumstances, it is best to eat lightly, choosing foods that are highly nourishing, preferably in a semi-liquid form.

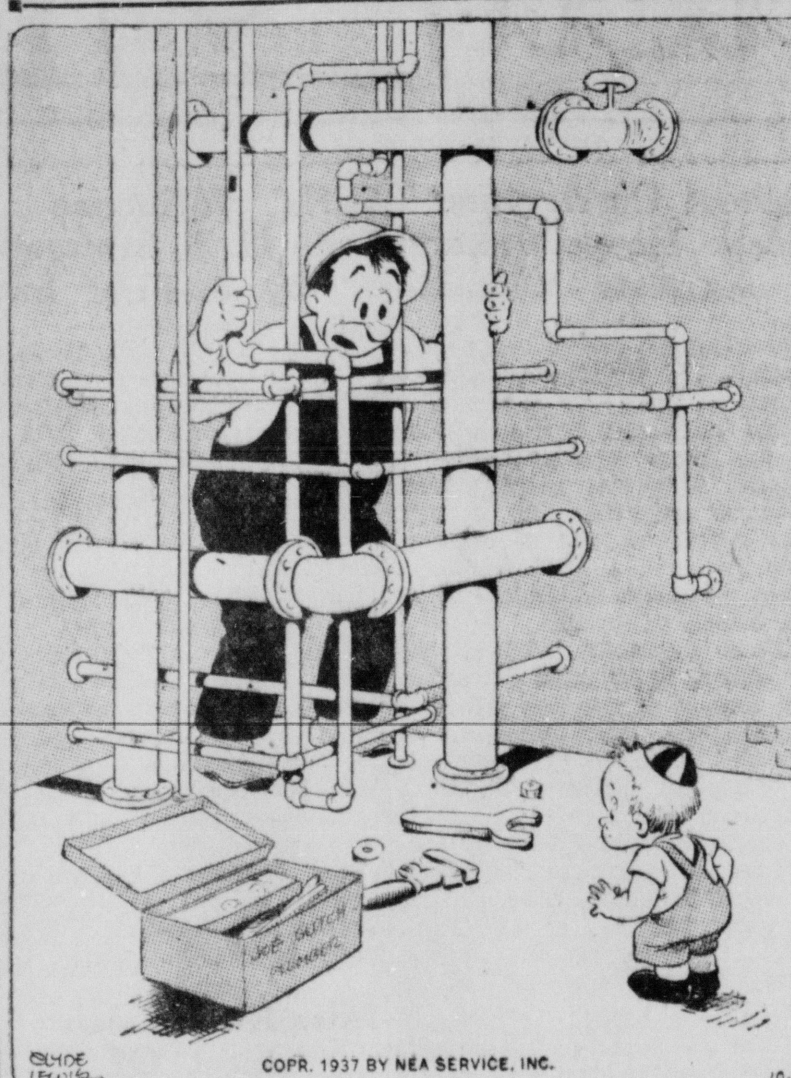

A passing anorexia, lasting two or three days, may prove of little significance. The persistent loss of appetite by one who previously ate well, and especially when the person affected is of middle age, or older, must be looked into very carefully. It suggests serious disturbances.

IF THE CHILD WON'T EAT

By Iago Galston, M.D.

A child that simply won't eat

Hold Everything!

"Hey, son, go tell the boss the plumbing's all in, but now I can't get out."

is a great trial to his parents. Most troubling is the uncertainty of the condition.

Is the child ill? Does the food disagree with him? Or is his unwillingness to eat just one of the ways in which the child seeks to dominate his parents?

It doesn't require an expert to solve these problems. If the child is ill, he is likely to reveal his condition by symptoms other than

and in addition to his loss of appetite. Beside, if there is any real question about the underlying condition of his health, a careful medical examination will settle that.

Does the food disagree with the child? If the disagreement be constitutional (allergic or otherwise distressing), there are likely to show up certain definite symptoms, such as diarrhea or skin rashes. In addition, the "disagreement" will show practically every time the food in question is eaten.

If a child won't eat a soft boiled egg, but relishes a jelly omelet, it may be safely assumed that the child disagrees with the food.

There is no good reason why essential foods such as eggs, milk or vegetables must be served the child in one and only one way. The child may have become conditioned by some unpleasant association to the food in that form. He isn't just ornery, and his dislike deserves some concessions.

The really spoiled youngster is not difficult to recognize, for he is seldom an angel everywhere else and a devil at the dinner table. An objective scrutiny of the child's behavior will soon reveal other problems. That associated with feeding stands out because parents are likely to be more anxious about how Johnny eats, than about how Johnny plays with his pets or his mates.

Here two procedures are indicated. First, a study should be made, with the help of a psychiatrist if necessary, of the reasons for the child's behavior.

Then the subject of "Johnny won't eat" must be outlawed from all conversation. No such child has ever been known to starve to death. Hunger will soon enough drive him to eat. Offer food; allow a sufficient time; take what remains away. No food should be served until the next meal. Then repeat the process.

Tomorrow—Diabetes and the Glands of Internal Secretion.

VAILE AND O'MALLEY

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—That All-America, ballfool for Charley Brock, Nebraska center, is originating in—of all places—Minneapolis.... The Gophers (who saw plenty of Charley a couple of weeks back) say he is just what the doctor ordered.... Sad faced gent on the left is Cousin Egbert Barrow, business manager of the Yanks, who is just about to begin the painful task of refunding $180,000 in World Series reservations.... Ouch!.... Speaking of guys who are no slouches out there on that gridiron, how about Crowell Little, north Carolina quarterback?.... He is just about tops.

Strain of winning two baseball titles in one week was a little too much for Col. J. E. Ruppert.... He'll raise Joe McCarthy's salary (until it equals Bill Terry's $40,000 per) then hit the grit for French Lick, Ind., to get in shape for winter salary battles with Messrs. Gehrig, DiMaggio, Ruffing, Gomez, et. al.

Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Bees, will find plenty of mail on his desk when he gets back from his vacation.... Beantown fans are clamored up.... What they want to know is if Cincinnati can afford to pay a smart old bird like Bill McKenchie $22,500 per, why can't Boston?.... Believe you us, the pippin are speaking their minds of there.... Back in his vacation retreat, Mogul Quinn is trying to decide between Donnie Bush and Tony Lazzeri.... Another possibility is Gabby Hartnett, but the Bees might run into trouble getting him away from the Cubs.

Joe Ezar, the golf trick shot artist, now runs a hamburger joint in Corsicana, Tex.... In the east we'll take China Frank, Marshall Goldberg, Sid Luckman and Jim Craig and spot you seven points.... Has anyone discovered what happened to that U. of Washington football team last Saturday?.... General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York boxing commission, and his aide will honeymoon in Bermuda, starting Saturday.

The town is full of rumors.... One Terry will wreck the Jints with Mancuso, Schumacher, Leiber and McCarthy on the block.... Another that Van Lingle is sure to wind up at the Polo Grounds.... A third has Dizzy Dean a sure bet in a Cub uniform next year.... Write your own ticket.

Bob Bailey, Clemson triple threat, has been personally responsible for half of his team's yardage this year.... He has lugged the ball 148 yards from scrimmage and completed 15 of 36 passes for another 320 yards.... Nice going, kid.... "Moon" Mullins, Mississippi State's national intercollegiate boxing champ, has the thickest hands in school.... His secret: Milking cows.... One of the reasons the Texas Aggies are going to town is in high school grid captains on the squad.... Teeney Lafferty, Davidson back, must have felt mighty good when Coach Wallace Wade of Duke visited the Davidson dressing room after the game and told Teeney: "You are the finest back I ever saw, boy.".... Praise indeed.

LUCKMAN NEEDS EXPERIENCE FOR HIGHER RATING

By BILL BONI

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Despite the tenderness of the football season, expert surveyors of the eastern front are putting the talented Sid Luckman of Columbia right beside Eli Yale's Clint Frank as the premier passer of the region, but it's the thought of Columbia's coach, Lou Little, that little reservation of judgment may be in order.

Little, like every one else who has seen the Erasmus high graduate in action, is ready to concede him outstanding ability but there's a little matter of experience that, in some opinions, keeps Luckman from immediately joining the ranks of gridiron immortals.

Frank No Newcomer

Frank, of course, is no newcomer. This is his third season at guiding footballs on a peg for alloping receivers making tackles behind both ends of the line of scrimmage, leaving defensive ends at-footed, slicing briskly off tackle, and in general turning the rightmost autumn afternoon into a bleak one for the Elis' opposition.

Already he is being touted as the year's best halfback, east, south, north or west. He made the All-America team last season. Luckman is only a junior, although, since he completed 18 out of 34 passes against Army last Saturday, his pitching has been compared favorably with that of such noted aerial artists as Benny Man and Sammy Baugh.

CHANGE GAME DATE

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Augustana-St. Ambrose football game, originally scheduled for Saturday, will be played here Friday night instead.

Visitors to the World's Fair at San Francisco in 1939 will be able to ride on Motor Glides, a newly-developed motorized kiddie scooter.

LONGEST CITY SERIES SINCE 1931 NEAR END

Davis, Whitehead To Get Mound Duty Today's Game

Chicago, Oct. 13.—(AP)—This was showdown day at Wrigley field for the White Sox and Cubs in Chicago's longest city baseball title battle since 1931.

The White Sox' hopes of winning the autumn event for the fourth straight time were given a setback yesterday at Comiskey park when they couldn't do much with southpaw Larry French while the Cubs belted the American leaguer's ace right-hander, Vernon Kennedy, and their record rescuer, Clint Brown, for 15 hits and a 6 to 2 victory to square the series at three triumphs apiece. The Sox had to go the seven game limit to win in 1931, but swept through the 1933 and 1936 series in four straight.

Manager Charlie Grimm nominated Curt Davis to do the pitching necessary to give the National league delegation its first city championship since they won four out of six games in 1930. Jimmy Dykes' selection was burly John Henderson Whitehead who conquered the Cubs last Saturday.

French Not So Good

French, who fashioned a four-hit performance in winning the third game, failed to do as well yesterday, but he came a lot closer than Kennedy did to a three-hit masterpiece in the second engagement. The Cub left-hander gave seven hits, walked five and hit one batsman. Before Kennedy retired for a pinch-batter in the seventh, he was punched for eight blows, including triples by Stan Hack and Billy Herman and a double by Frank Demaree. He walked four.

Gabby Hartnett, the Cubs' great catcher, was the batting leader for the series to date with an average of .412, compiled on seven hits in 17 official times at bat. The Sox leader was Rip Radcliff with eight hits in 21 times up for 381. The Cubs boasted a team clubbing mark of 2.95 to 257 for the American league defenders.

INDIANA, ILLINI SEEK TOUCHDOWN PUNCH FOR GAME

Both Camps Encouraged By Showing Last Weekend

Chicago, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Indiana's scrappin' Hoosiers and the fighting Illini of Illinois, heroic defensive performers last week, are out to say it with touchdowns Saturday—against each other.

Both Big Ten teams with the belligerent nicknames are proud of the way they threw monkey wrenches into the powerful offensive machinery operated by Notre Dame and Minnesota. But both camps are working overtime to have some punch ready for this week at Bloomington. In holding the Golden Gophers to a single touchdown, the Hoosiers presented Illinois with a problem—and the Illini made it even by battling Notre Dame to a scoreless stand-off.

Although his already battered squad took additional beating in the battle at Minneapolis, Coach Bo McMillin had the Hoosiers out yesterday for a look at what his scouts described as "a tricky Illinois offense," but soon turned to offense. In the absence of Frank Filchok, one of the battered, who led Indiana's passing attack against Minnesota, McMillin had a southpaw, James Zoeller, pitching. Coach Bob Zuppke warned the Illini that Indiana probably will be tougher than Notre Dame and gave them a long defensive scrimmage.

mage—but not until he had given the regulars a set of plays which he hopes will crack the Hoosier defense.

Wildcats Polish Offensive

Northwestern was given a brisk offensive scrimmage as Coach Lynn Waldorf tried to speed up the Wildcats' running game for Saturday's tussle with Purdue. It failed to operate consistently against Michigan's sturdy line, due partly to ineffective blocking by Northwestern forwards, so Waldorf gave the latter most of his attention. The Boiler-makers whipped through defensive and offensive scrimmages in the rain.

Minnesota showed marked earnestness as Coach Bernie Bierman got down to business on the proposition of scoring a fourth straight victory over Michigan Saturday. The Wolverines, encouraged by their fine stand against Northwestern, divided its session between new plays and examination of Gopher formations.

Wisconsin's first hard drill in preparation for Iowa went ahead with three men, Irv Windward, Roland Nelson and Clarence Petersen missing. The former pair suffered injuries which may keep them out of the lineup for three weeks, while Petersen withdrew to devote all of his time to studying. The Hawkeyes put in their regular practice of the season, Coach Irv Tubbs keeping the squad out so late that floodlights became necessary.

At Chicago, Coach Clark Shaughnessy's Maroons displayed improvement in tackling during a lively session against Princeton plays.

BEAT INDIANA IS BATTLE CRY OF ILLINOIS

Illini Haven't Invaded Bloomington Since 1910

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 13.—"Beat Indiana!" is the battle cry in the Illinois football camp as the Illini prepare for a struggle which they expect to be as hard-fought and desperate as the scoreless tie which they played with Notre Dame Saturday.

It will be the first journey which an Illinois football team has made to Bloomington since 1910 when the Illini, who were eventually to win a co-championship, emerged victor by a score of 3 to 0 after a thrilling battle against one of the best, if not the best, teams in Hoosier annals.

Warned by Scout L. Johnson that Indiana, losing to Minnesota by a single touchdown, time and time again threatened to down the powerful Gophers at Minneapolis, the Illini have forgotten all about the Notre Dame game and are working like beavers for their invasion of the Hoosier stronghold.

Coach Bob Zuppke is striving to improve the Illinois offense and bolster the defense against the Indiana throwing game. At Minneapolis Filchok and his companion Hoosier backs completed 12 out of 29 passes, a statistic over which Zuppke ponders with knitted brows.

No Change in Starters

There will probably be no change in the starting lineup from the combination which opened against the Irish with the possible exception that Brewer may appear at left guard instead of Hodges, who was inserted to kick off. Capt. Lowell Spurgeon is being rested but is expected to be able to lead the Illini.

Zuppke will take the Illinois squad of approximately 33 players to Indianapolis by special train Friday afternoon to spend the night in the Hoosier capital, traveling to Bloomington at noon Saturday.

The Illinois band of 175 pieces, which made the trip to Bloomington in 1910, will travel there again

Saturday morning, followed by many supporters.

Thriller at Bloomington

Oldtime Illinois players and partisans this week are re-telling the story of the classic battle at Bloomington 27 years ago. They speak with great respect of the ability of all the Hoosiers but recall especially the talents of one adversary, Andy Gill, who was a thorn in the flesh of the Illini all afternoon.

The Illinois lineup included the late Glenn Butler, captain and guard, "Heavy" Twist, "Bull" Roberts, Otto Sprague, Ed Lyons, Chan Oliver, and other Orange and Blue luminaries.

The teams battled up and down the field but defensively they were so strong that neither seriously menaced the other's goal. Otto Seiler, Illinois' quarterback could dropkick almost as far as he could punt and often instead of punting on the fourth down, Seiler attempted goals.

Several Tries Wild

Several attempts were wild although they had sufficient distance but finally Seiler, from one side of the field at the 45-yard line, crook-kicked a beautiful goal. Hoosier hearts sunk as well they might. This spelled victory.

That was Indiana's only defeat. Had the decision been reversed, the Hoosiers instead of the Illini would have shared the Big Ten title with Minnesota. Seiler's toe also gave the Illini 3 to 0 victories over Chicago and Syracuse that season.

The Illinois team was the only one in Illini history which won all its games and was never scored on. If the scoreless half-game for charity in Chicago in 1931, which was awarded to Indiana on first downs, is not entitled to stand as a regulation victory, you must go back to 1903 to find an Indiana win. Illinois has won 12 games, Indiana 2, and 2 were ties. The scores of the past are as follows:

1899—Indiana: 5-0.
1900—Tie: 0-0.
1901—Illinois: 18-0.
1902—Illinois: 47-0.
1903—Indiana: 17-0.
1904—Illinois: 10-0.
1907—Illinois: 10-6.
1908—Illinois: 10-0.
1909—Illinois: 6-5.
1910—Illinois: 3-0.
1911—Tie: 0-0.
1912—Illinois: 13-7.
1913—Illinois: 10-0.
1914—Illinois: 51-0.
1928—Illinois: 13-7.
1928—Illinois: 13-7.
1932—Illinois: 18-6.
Games won: Illinois, 12; Indiana 2; tied, 2.

Run-down heels are a mark of carelessness.

HOLES-IN-ONE TOTAL 664 FOR YEAR TO DATE

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Prize shots rolled in from all sections of the nation, their lengths ranging from 87 to 330 yards, as membership in the Associated Press Hole-in-One club reached a total of 664 for the year.

Indiana, reporting 10 of the last batch of 84 reported, held a wide lead over the rest of the states, with Minnesota second with 65 and New York third at 59. Except for the two Carolinas and Vermont, each state has reported one or more aces.

Marion Coulter of Richmond, Ind., sank the 330-yard shot on the fifth hole of the Elks Country club. The shortest ace was scored on the 7-yard third at Glenbrook, Minden, Nevada.

Two of the most famous stars of golf joined up with perfect shots. Johnny Goodman of Omaha, national amateur champion, bagged one on the 195-yard 15th at Lakeside golf club, California, and Mrs. O. S. Hill, veteran Kansas City star, dropped one on the 157-yard third at Indian Hills Country club.

Among aces reported were: Arthur D. Logan, Rockford, Ill.; 11th hole, 210 yards, Macktown; L. M. Schukel, Rockford, Ill.; 15th hole, 123 yards, Ingersoll Park; W. R. Eble, Galesburg, Ill.; 1st hole, 140 yards, Searns C. C.; Clarence Trotter, Peoria, Ill.; 11th hole, 125 yards, Madison Park; John Bettcher, Aurora, Ill.; 15th hole, 167 yards, Fox Valley C. C.; William Mertz, Belleville, Ill.; 9th hole, 10 yards, St. Clair C. C.

St. Louis Woman Has $4000 Judgment In Suit Against Cards

St. Louis, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Rose Olds of St. Louis held a $4,000 judgment today against the St. Louis Cardinals, National league baseball team, granted in a personal injury suit against the club.

Mrs. Olds was injured August 26, 1932, when a foul tip from the bat of Mel Ott, New York Giants' third baseman, struck her as she left the park in the ninth inning. She had asked $7,500.

Little Nineteen Score Leadership Revision Is Due

Chicago, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Individual scoring leadership in the Illinois Intercollegiate conference football race, unchanged for the third successive week, is expected to undergo its first shake-up Saturday as 16 teams go into action.

Ted Panish and Bob Theus, both of Bradley, continued to top the individuals this week with their 12 points scored against Eureka, Sept. 24.

Ken Robbins, a third Bradley back, kept runner up honors with nine points, but Steve Stevenson, Knox end, and Leroy Patterson, Wheaton, fullback, moved into a tie for fourth place with Iselhardt, of McKendree. All have scored a touchdown and a point after. Nineteen other players were tied with six points apiece.

SCHEDULE

Dixon high school has five games remaining on its 1937 schedule, with the worst of the N. C. I. conference campaign still ahead.

After a breather with Geneseo this Saturday on Reynolds field here, DeKalb, Rochelle and Sterling will be met on successive Saturdays.

On Armistice Day, Nov. 11, the annual game with the Alumni will conclude the season.

Following is the balance of the schedule:

Oct. 16—Geneseo, here.
Oct. 22—DeKalb, there (night)
Oct. 30—Rochelle, here.
Nov. 6—Sterling, there.
Nov. 11—Alumni, here.

Blue fox is rapidly replacing silver fox as a luxury fur.

Roosevelt Tells What He Wants Congress to Do in Special Session

Outlined Program in "Fireside Chat" on Air Tuesday Eve

Washington, Oct. 13—(AP)—President Roosevelt, ordering a special session of Congress November 15, instituted a campaign today to enact by Christmas, if possible, the bulk of his legislative program sidetracked in the last session.

Administration officials expressed hope for swift congressional approval of five measures outlined by the chief executive last night in his tenth "fireside chat."

1. Crop production control to "build an all-weather farm program so that in the long run prices will be more stable."

2. Wage and hour standards to "make millions of our lowest-paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products."

3. Regional planning to conserve natural resources, prevent floods and produce electric power for general use.

4. Government reorganization to provide "twentieth century machinery" to make the "Democratic process work more efficiently."

5. Stronger anti-trust laws in furtherance of "a low price policy which encourages the widest possible consumption."

Foreshadow Controversy
The proposals foreshadowed bitter and perhaps prolonged controversy. The first four were left-overs from the session which ended in August, but the anti-monopoly recommendation was new.

Roosevelt characterized the program as one which the American people need immediately to provide prosperity.

"The kind of prosperity we want," he said, "is the sound and permanent kind which is not built up temporarily at the expense of any section or group."

His speech followed by only five hours his dramatic announcement at a three-minute press conference that he was calling the first special session since the one he summoned during the 1933 bank holiday.

The broad program outlined by the President immediately raised the question of whether Congress would return more in the mood to follow his leadership than it was last summer.

No Mention of Courts
There was no mention in Roosevelt's speech of his court reorganization program which upset the legislative machinery in the regular 1937 session. He apparently was referring to Supreme Court reversals, however, when he said the people had been "checked" in efforts to control production and secure wage-hour standards.

Although some members of congress said they saw no need for a special session, such administration leaders as Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala.) said the president had exercised "good judgment."

Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the house rules committee, which blocked the wage-hour bill in the last session, forecast it would be brought to the house floor swiftly. The crop control bill, however, will have the right-of-way under a resolution adopted in August.

Two Issues for Debate
There were indications that two other issues might create time-consuming debate during the session—the former Ku Klux Klan connections of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black and the president's foreign policy.

Roosevelt apparently sought in his speech to allay criticism of his newly aggressive policy toward Japanese invasion of China. He emphasized that American participation in the nine-power treaty conference would be to seek by agreement a solution of the conflict.

"And the kind of peace we want," he said, "is the sound and permanent kind which is built on the co-operative search for peace by all the nations which want peace."

Discussing his call for the special session, the president said it would enable congress to avoid a lengthy session next year during the pre-election campaign. Ordinarily congress would not meet until January 3.

He Sees No Harm
"I know," he added, "that many enemies of democracy will say that it is bad for business, had for the tranquility of the country, to have a special session—even one beginning only six weeks before the regular session."

"But I have never had sympathy with the point of view that a session of the congress is an unfortunate intrusion of what they call 'politics' into our national affairs. Those who do not like democracy want to keep legislators at home."

The president sat at a desk in an oval-shaped room in the White House. After the 30-minute speech, in which he spoke much more rapidly than usual, he received congratulations from two or three dozen guests, including Secretary Perkins and William Bullitt, United States ambassador to France.

"Then he left for a week's visit to his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y. He agreed to go to nearby

Poughkeepsie today to lay the cornerstone of a new postoffice.

Must Reach for Peace
His renewed plea for active steps to preserve peace was interpreted by many observers today as designed to quiet criticism that his policy of international co-operation might lead to war.

Declaring that the mere refusal to recognize war in other parts of the world does not guarantee this country's "alotness" from conflict, he said:

"In a world of mutual suspicions, peace must be affirmatively reached for. It cannot just be wished for. It cannot just be waited for."

Thus, he prefaced a formal announcement of the United States' intention to participate in the forthcoming nine-power treaty conference on the Sino-Japanese conflict.

He added significantly, recalling his service as wartime assistant secretary of the navy:

Says He Learned Much
"Remember that from 1913 to 1921, I was fairly close to world events and in that period, while I learned much of what to do, I also learned much of what not to do."

To many observers, this appeared to be an expression of an intention to pursue a moderate course in foreign affairs.

Some members of Congress, peace organizations and others had expressed concern after his Chicago speech last week that his determination to co-operate with other nations in peace endeavors might embroil the United States in foreign entanglements.

The chief executive emphasized that the conference of signatories of the nine-power treaty, which recognizes China's territorial and administrative sovereignty, will seek a solution of the far eastern conflict "by agreement."

Included China, Japan
The United States government, he said, proposes to co-operate with all the treaty signatories, "including China and Japan," in its efforts to find the solution.

This was viewed by some informed persons as an indirect overture to Japan to join the conference, notwithstanding unofficial coolness displayed by Tokyo toward the meeting.

Some proposals in the five-point program for the special session have passed their first hurdles.

The only subject on which the President's ideas have not been broadly outlined is anti-trust legislation. The others were submitted to the last session. Their status, in brief:

Status of Program
Government reorganization: The House has divided the administration program into six bills, two of which were passed last session and sent to the Senate. The latter framed an omnibus measure, which has been approved by committee.

Wage-hour: Passed by Senate 66 to 28. Southern opposition blocked it in the House rules committee. The bill would let a federal board fix maximum hours as low as 40 a week and minimum wages as high as 40 cents an hour for industries in interstate commerce. It also would outlaw child labor.

Crop control: Neither house acted on this legislation at the last session, but both agreed to make it the first order of business at the next. Its form depends largely on committee action. Senators McGill (D-Kan) and Pope (D-Idaho) have introduced a bill following the "ever-normal granary" plan of Secretary Wallace. Designed to equalize supply with demand, it would permit storage of large crops for use in lean years.

Regional planning: Roosevelt recommended creation of the seven regional planning authorities similar to and including the TVA. Neither house acted, but hearings were held to clear the way for speedy action at the next session.

Afflicted Youth to be Taken South in His 'Iron Lung'
Chicago, Oct. 13—(AP)—Frederick B. Snite, Sr., Chicago financier, said today his son, Frederick, Jr., infantile paralysis victim who has been confined in an "iron lung" for more than a year, would be taken to Miami, Fla., next Monday.

Snite said the trip would be made aboard the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad's Dixie Limited. It will be the second journey made by young Snite in a mechanical respirator since he was stricken in Peking, China. He was brought home last June.

A new "iron lung" awaits the stricken youth's arrival in Florida, constructed of aluminum and rubber. The new respirator will permit him greater freedom of his legs and arms, Snite, Sr., said.

Motor-bikes, motor-scooters, chairs and tiny streamlined trains will carry visitors over the 400-acre site of the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay.

A. F. OF L. TURNS DOWN CIO PEACE OFFERS TODAY

All Attempts To Unite Labor Movement Seem Doomed

Denver, Oct. 13—(AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders, sustained by an overwhelming vote of confidence from member unions, stood committed today to reject any proposals for ending organized labor's civil war which, in their opinion, were "dictated" by the rival CIO.

A CIO proposal for a 200-man "peace" conference was rejected scornfully as "insincere" by William Green, A. F. of L. president.

Green's declaration came last night after he studied a telegram from the 32 unions of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, inviting the federation to send 100 peace negotiators to meet with a like group of the CIO.

"It does not impress me as being submitted in good faith," Green said.

He "assumed" he spoke for his executive council, upon which the duty of transmitting a formal reply rejecting the CIO offer will fall. The council will meet following the close of the convention, expected tomorrow.

To Fix Alternative
There was little doubt the council would give the CIO the alternative of continued warfare for domination of the American labor movement or capitulation on terms prescribed by the A. F. of L.

Only a day before the CIO proposed the peace parley, the convention voted a majority of nearly 25 to one the authority asked by the council to expel "obstinate" unions which persisted in adhering to the CIO.

Green made plain his determination to reject any gestures designed to bring a reunion between the Lewis group of "rebels" and the A. F. of L., as long as such action would involve submitting to CIO demands.

Action on resolutions concerning the national labor relations board and proposed federal wage-hour legislation awaited action of the convention today.

CIO TURNED DOWN
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 13—(AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization indicated today the American Federation of Labor's refusal of an offer of reconciliation on CIO terms ended the possibility of a united labor movement.

High CIO leaders deferred comment on the refusal until their own conference here had formally expressed sentiment, but said privately they had made the only gesture they would or could to reunite the two organizations, which, pursuing opposite courses, seek better wages and working conditions for labor.

They expressed surprise that William Green, federation president, had decided to speak for the federation council and delegates to the current convention in Denver when he announced the A. F. of L. rejected the CIO offer.

John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, asking his 32 union heads yesterday to approve the offer, told them the needs and well-being of labor and the public generally "require affirmative and constructive action."

"This question," he said, "runs to the question of the CIO, the very stability of our form of government. It attracts the attention of the nation. It involves the interests of every American."

The CIO proposed formally a conference between 100 representatives of each organization, and declared the conference "would consider the means whereby a unified labor movement can be brought about in America."

Herrick Eulogized By Law Fraternity
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13—(AP)—In the somber, dignified chambers of the Illinois Supreme Court, the late Justice Lott R. Herrick of Farmer City was eulogized today by members of the law fraternity.

Offering the motion that the memorial services be written into the court's records, John V. Voigt of Chicago, president of the Illinois Bar Association, asserted that Herrick was one of the most active courtroom lawyers of his generation.

Former Judge Edward Barry of Bloomington referred to the late justice as a wise and beloved counselor and leader of men.

Judge L. E. Stone of Springfield spoke of Herrick as his boyhood companion.

The late justice's brothers, Lyle, Dwight, Wirt and Wayne Herrick, and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Thomas of Champaign, were among those attending the services.

BEE CAUSES TROUBLE
Deland, Fla. —(AP)—Chester C. Ames of Waukegan, Ill., was in a hospital here today with five fractured ribs and a lacerated nose—all because of a bee.

Ames said the bee flew into his car, and he tried to dodge it. In the confusion the automobile struck a power pole.

Highlights

Some Paragraphs From Roosevelt's Radio Talk Tuesday Evening.

Washington, Oct. 13—(AP)—Highlights of President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" from White House last night:

What you and I want is such governmental rules of the game that labor, agriculture and industry will produce a balanced abundance without waste.

We intend this winter to find a way to prevent four-and-a-half-cent cotton, nine-cent corn and thirty-cent wheat—with all the disaster those prices mean for all of us—from ever coming back again.

As never before in our history, each section of America says to every other section "Thy people shall be my people."

A few more dollars a week in wages, a better distribution of jobs with a shorter working day will almost overnight make millions of our lowest-paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products.

They (Americans) want the financial budget balanced. But they want the human budget balanced as well.

In a world of mutual suspicions, peace must be affirmatively reached for. It cannot just be wished for. It cannot just be waited for.

For most of the country this has been a good year—better in dollars and cents than for many years—far better in the soundness of its prosperity.

American industry has searched the outside world to find new markets—but it can create on its very doorstep the biggest and most permanent market it has ever had.

I have never had sympathy with the point of view that a session of the congress is an unfortunate intrusion of what they call "politics" into our national affairs. Those who do not like democracy want to keep legislators at home.

Whatever danger they may be to the property and profits of the many, if there be any danger, comes not from government's attitude toward business but from restraints now imposed upon business by private monopolies and financial oligarchies.

State Hospital
By G. E. Phillips
State Hospital.—Mrs. Nora Anderson, assistant chief nurse, has returned to duty from her vacation.

The editors of "The College Visitor," the hospital paper, are busily engaged in gathering material for the next issue which is scheduled to appear this month. An appeal has been issued for original material written either by patients or employees.

We happened to run into Oliver Portner and Frank Curran, both formerly employed here the other evening in Dixon. Both asked us to convey their best regards to their friends here.

With the close of the world's series and with the city series having only one more day to go the baseball season which has been in session all summer is making ready to turn all its unfinished business over to the hot stove league, which will carry on during the winter months.

Versatile Leiser Hubbard is pinch hitting for Veral Benoy on the laundry truck while the latter is on vacation.

John Reuter and family motored to the home of their brother to attend a wedding of one of the brother's children yesterday.

The regular weekly motion picture show for patients, sponsored by the recreation department is scheduled for this evening at the amusement hall, subject to the competition of some work being done there by the paint detail.

20 Per Cent Boost in Budget Sought by French Minister
Paris, Oct. 13—(AP)—An increase of nearly 20 per cent in the French army budget for 1938 was asked today by Minister of National Defense Edouard Daladier.

The minister, in a tentative combination of the ordinary and extraordinary budget submitted to parliament for study, asked 12,900,000 francs (about $425,700,000) for next year, as compared with 10,900,000,000 francs (about $359,700,000) for 1937.

Nearly 10,000 men would be added to the land forces, which already number more than 650,000 in France and her colonies. This total includes mobile guards (militarized police).

BUTTER AND EGGS
Washington—(AP)—The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation announced it had purchased 777,022 pounds of butter in Illinois during the first nine months of the year for $231,691. It also purchased 158,749 worth of fresh shell eggs in Illinois for distribution to needy in midwestern states.

NEW CORN GOALS 80 PER CENT OF 5-YEAR AVERAGE

Director of Federal Soil Program Outlines Basis for 1938

Washington, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Claude R. Wickard, director of the 1938 soil conservation program for Illinois and other north-central states, said today the new "corn goals" for Illinois and its counties should be approximately 80 per cent of the 1928-1937 acreage figures.

He added, however, that the 1938 actual soil-depleting crop acreage in Illinois will be greater than the goals established by the AAA for its new soil conservation program.

"The amount of variation," he said, "will depend upon the number of farmers participating in the program and the proximity within which the participating farmers attain the goals established for their farms."

For example, he said, although corn goals established for the county and state may be 20 per cent less than the "historic acreage," it is possible, the corn acreage planted in Illinois next year may show only 10 or 15 per cent reduction from the "historic figures" because the participating farmers must not only make all the adjustment but also offset the acreage made by non-participating farmers.

Corn Goal Below Average
The corn goal for the nation is approximately eight to 10 per cent below the 1928-37 average.

Wickard said the general soil depleting goal for Illinois included all soil depleting crops except corn and cotton, and "should not vary greatly from 85 per cent of the acreage of such crops grown in the period from 1928 to 1937, and the base acreage for these crops established under the 1937 program."

"However, since we have not yet completed the statistics concerning the 1937 acreage nor the trend in acreage study we cannot make a definite announcement at this time," he added.

The 1938 soil conservation program as it applies to Illinois calls for the establishment of "goals" for corn, cotton and general crops aside from corn and cotton. In the 1937 program the total soil depleting limit included corn, but this year the corn goal will be established separately for the nation and the states.

To Exhibit Here

"PIED PIPER OF HAMELIN"

C. Ray Smith's famous Olvera Street Marionettes, direct from Los Angeles, Calif., will present Robert Browning's immortal "Pied Piper of Hamelin" at 7:30 P. M. Friday, 5, under the auspices of the High School P. T. A. at the high school auditorium.

As an added feature the matinee performance will be "Inside the Magic Mountain" while in the evening a continental variety show will enliven the production.

The C. Ray Smith show is the largest marionette show touring the country at the present time and contains a cast of 100 movie star puppets including Shirley Temple, Jackie Cooper, Mickey Rooney, Step'n Fetchit and many others.

There will be plenty of comedy, lots of laughs, real theatre with marvelous lighting effects, gorgeous costumes and colorful scenes.

The marionette show, like the circus and the animated cartoon, is an annual event in the life of children and of those who retain the spirit of youth, vivid imagination and the joy of living. The "Pied Piper" is excellent puppet material, one of those happy combinations of entertainment that appeals to young and old alike. The characters of the pompous Mayor, the good burgomasters and the Piper are all fascinatingly real. To rat-infested Hamelin Town comes the stranger—who offers to rid the city of its plague. The mayor has promised one thousand gilders, but fails to keep his bargain. Whereupon the Piper exclaims: "Beware! Those who put me in a passion, may find I'll pipe to another fashion!"

The marionettes present a swiftly moving show that will please the most sophisticated, as well as those who retain a childlike enjoyment of wholesome entertainment.

ASK SEPARATE STUDY
Chicago—(AP)—The council of 14 civic leaders named to study relief costs and administration in Illinois forwarded a recommendation to Governor Horner that an independent group be appointed to examine Chicago relief rolls. Walter S. Gregory, council spokesman, said it was felt the public would place more credence in an investigation by independent persons.

MODERN ARK HAS ARRIVED IN NEW YORK

Valuable Cargo of Zoo Ship Safely Dis- charged

A modern Noah's Ark, loaded with wild animals from the other side of the world, has brought its strange and existing cargo safely back to the United States. Some 1,000 birds, beasts, and reptiles are now stretching wings, legs and claws in their new homes at the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C., and are now on exhibition to the hundreds of thousands of visitors from every state in the Union, who visit the park annually.

The Noah's Ark was the trim freighter Silverash, six weeks out of Singapore by way of Belawan, Deli, Sumatra; Bombay, India; the Suez Canal; and the Mediterranean. It carried to New York, after brief halts at Halifax and Boston, the leaders and zoological collection of the National Geographic Society-Smithsonian Institute East Indies expedition.

Ox Hearts and Honey for Food

Under the direction of Dr. William Mann, director of the National Zoological park of Washington, the expedition had been in the field nine months, gathering together perhaps the largest and most unusual assortment of wild life specimens that has ever been brought to this country in a single shipment. The National Geographic society, with its million members, financed the expedition and the entire collection is being turned over to Uncle Sam's zoo, now one of the most complete in the world.

Although Dr. Mann and his associates had many thrilling experiences while obtaining their exotic cargo in the Far East, the real saga of the trip was the return voyage of seven weeks. To keep alive and in good health the weird passenger list, which ranged from giraffes and dragon lizards to small snakes and quail, constant hard work, untiring care and ceaseless watching were needed day and night. The thousands of creatures ate tremendous quantities of food, much of which had to be specially prepared.

The ship left the Netherlands Indies with more than a ton of bananas, many tons of hay, fresh grass, hundreds of dozens of eggs, many pounds of frozen fish and meat, and a supply of such special viands as ox hearts and strained honey. Nevertheless it had to put into ports repeatedly for fresh supplies. Some animals had to be protected from tropical heat; others from North Atlantic cold. At Port Sudan, Egypt, the temperature reached 117 degrees Fahrenheit. Several monkeys and a bear had heat prostrations, but were revived by liberal dousings of ice water.

Run Gauntlet of "Pirate" Subs
Chilly weather during the Atlantic crossing and at Halifax threatened the delicate giraffes whose cages were too large to permit moving them off the exposed deck and into the hull of the ship. This problem was finally solved by using high-powered light bulbs and reflectors in their stalls.

Added to the natural hazards was the menace of "pirate" submarine warfare in the Mediterranean. One night the Silverash was closely examined under brilliant searchlights by an unknown war vessel, but it was not molested. On another occasion it was warned by French radio of a floating mine in its path, and made a detour to avoid it.

One of the most valuable of the animal newcomers is a serow, a creature with the characteristics of both a goat and an antelope. It inhabits the mountains of Sumatra, the Netherlands Indies island on which the expedition had its base. Strangest of the reptiles is a giant "dragon" lizard, seven feet long, from Komodo.

A geographical list of the animals and birds follows:

Australia: Cassowary, Banksia cockatoos.

New Guinea: Tree kangaroos, crowned pigeons, birds of paradise, bower bird; eclectus parrots, king parrot, vulturine parrot, black lories, other lories, cassowaries, giant white cockatoo.

Moluccas: Cassowary, lories, hornbill, megapodes (maloes), red-crested cockatoos, amethystine pythons.

Komodo: Dragon lizard.

Celebes: Lories, crested lizards, anoa (pygmy buffalo), babirusa, hornbills.

Java: Binturong, tantulus stork, giant squirrel, birds.

Siam: Gibbons, crested lizards, white squirrels, leopard, clouded leopard, king cobras.

Malaya: Tapirs, barking deer, mouse deer, black leopards.

Sumatra: Tapir, serow, hog badger, martins, otter, cats, wild dog, lutang, binturong, squirrels, pig-tailed macaques, lories, hornbills, like it," drawled Watson. "It has been stupendous, simply stupendous everywhere we went. Why, at Portland the President drove through 22 miles of streets packed solidly with people. Even the roofs and adjoining hillside were black with cheering crowds."

"Really," said Nye. "Yes sir, Senator, I am not exaggerating one bit. There must have been 700,000 persons if there was one."

Nye's eyes bulged. He said nothing.

Tough Fight
Nye faces a tough re-election fight next year—and he knows it. Although the campaign is twelve months off, he already is busy electioneering for all he is worth. He showed newsmen a picture of his right hand as a result of steady handshaking.

Governor Langer has his ambitious eye on Nye's seat, and repeatedly has demonstrated that when it comes to vote-getting he is a miracle man. Ousted from the governorship a few years ago following conviction on charges of fund juggling, he staged a comeback as an independent in 1936 after being licked in the Republican primary.

Still another menace to Nye is Representative Bill Lemke, Father Coughlin's ill-fated white hope. Lemke also wants to go to the Senate and believes Nye is ripe for plucking.

So the outlook for Gerald is far from cheerful and he is laboring desperately—even to the extent of climbing on the Roosevelt bandwagon.

Merry-Go-Round
The Chinese Embassy is being swamped with letters and telegrams from U. S. citizens expressing their desire to boycott Japanese goods here . . . The World Series ball games got a hearing even in the staid corridors of the State Department, where lesser clerks tuned in on the broadcasts while Hull was harried with problems in the Orient . . . Boyd J. Brown, manager of the Government-owned Virgin Islands Company, producer of "Government House" rum, won a gold medal in school days for a speech on temperance.

Advertising

Chairman of American Refining Co. Says It's a Pledge

By EARL D. BABST

Whoever goes to the market through the use of advertising submits himself and his wares to the rejection or acceptance of the individuals in that market. The market may be a neighborhood, a city, a state or the nation. Advertising is a direct appeal to each person in the market. In other words, advertising lets the public decide.

Business, no matter of what name, character or size is the outgrowth of some service to mankind. Acceptance and recognition of this service is spoken of broadly as good-will. Lord Eildon more than a century ago in simple words defined good-will as "the probability that the old customers will resort to the old place."

Good-will, as a balance-sheet asset, came in for a great deal of discussion in American finance some years ago, when stockholders gave it very definite recognition as a capital asset, sometimes referred to as "watered stock." In many instances, however, so great was the good-will of the article produced that the profits which accumulated as the result of repeated returns of satisfied customers "squeezed out the water." Many of these "watered stocks" are now desired by the public at a price many times the value represented originally by the visible assets.

In other words, the item of good-will has come to have a value greater than the manufacturing properties. All the buildings of the National Biscuit Company might burn today, yet Uneda Biscuit and Nabisco would still be among the great trade mark properties of the country. The plants of the Quaker Oats Company might disappear through flood or earthquake, but Quaker Oats would continue, and probably the famous trade name would be more valuable than before. The same may be said of Coca-Cola, Wrigley, Heinz, Beech-Nut, Karo, Campbell's, Postum, Chiclets, Canada Dry, Del Monte, Royal Baking Powder, and hundreds more in the food field alone.

Advertising reminds customers of the old place and invites all to resort to it. Trade names and trade marks are the stepping stones for returning customers. Obviously no one need go to the old place unless he wants to. If there were only one old place in the market, it is quite unlikely that there would be advertising. But our home market—especially that of the nation—grows too fast for monopoly to survive. At least no single unit, in such key industries as flour, sugar, meat, oil and steel, has expanded as rapidly as our national market. Competition fairly blooms in an expanding market. Advertising is the handmaiden of competition.

Whoever submits his service to the public—to the consumer in whatever market—by putting a trade name or mark on his article and proclaiming it by advertising, has pledged himself to quality, truth and value. When one employs the power of advertising, he cannot shirk or repudiate that pledge, for in his brand he has provided the public also with the means of rejection.

Advertising does many things; it functions directly and indirectly over a wide field, with ever-expanding means and methods. Its primary function is that of inviting—sometimes imploring—the persons making up our public to accept or reject some service. This is submission on an intensive scale. It goes to all persons in the market, of whatever age or condition. It is more democratic than representative democracy. It brings private business within the primary principles of pure democracy. Advertising, by submission of its wares to the jury of all buyers, brings business under more equitable judgments than can be devised by our governmental servants. It submits business to a continuous referendum—to a daily mandate.

Advertising, therefore, transfers to the public the power to protect itself. That the public realizes the protection it has in this competitive development is conclusively shown by the public's rejection of the doubtful depths of bin and barrel, and by its steadily increasing acceptance of trade-marked package products, and by the evergrowing number of advertised articles in our daily life. It is our most powerful answer to the old abuses of attempted monopoly.

The effort to win the good-will of the public under trade marks, trade names, and by truth-telling advertising should be hailed as the highest and finest form of competition. The public is made the final arbiter. To put the names of acceptance and rejection into the hands of the consumer and to abide his free choice is a comparatively recent advance, wrought under our very eyes, so openly, yet so gradually that we have hardly sensed its significance and its relation to the public interest.

Advertising is today's call to "resort to the old place." Advertising is today's pledge to fair trading, fair price, full weight, honest label and full value.

INDIAN JONAH

HAD A HOT TIME
Queets, Wash. —(AP)—Quillayute Indians have their own Jonah story, says Chief Howettie.

They relate that the brother of Qua-Ti the Benevolent was swallowed by a giant fish in the Raft river and that Qua-Ti threw heated stones into the stream to make the fish disgorge his kin.

When the stream receded with the tide, Qua-Ti found the fish had been cooked, as anticipated. Unfortunately his brother had been cooked, too.

Reynoldswood Farm Pure Jersey Milk

For the first time in nearly a year, we have enough milk so we can take on a few regular customers. We have added to our herd a carload of purebred Jerseys from Canada—of which every animal has passed the most rigid examinations and blood tests and been found absolutely free from disease.

The bacteria count of Reynoldswood Jersey Milk is even lower than the requirement for certified milk, and it has the highest butterfat, best flavor, and most nutrient you can obtain for your money.

We also deliver to our milk customers pure creamery butter and fresh, selected eggs.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating Albert Edward Wiggam, S.Sc.
pastime with "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

IN THE GOOD OLD VICTORIAN, JANE AUSTEN, PRIDE-AND-PREJUDICE DAYS, IT WAS CONSIDERED BECOMING TO BLUSH FREQUENTLY IS THIS FASHION LIKELY TO RETURN? YES OR NO — 1

2 IF ONE PARENT IS STRONG AND THE OTHER WEAK WHICH ONE WILL THE CHILDREN BE MORE LIKELY TO TAKE AFTER? YOUR ANSWER —

3 DO HAPPY OR UNHAPPY PEOPLE PHILOSOPHIZE MOST ABOUT LIFE? YOUR ANSWER —

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Eagelot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. How we would know if a modern rouged woman did blush is beyond the finite mind but, according to New York Times, a Paris beauty shop is teaching women how to blush in two ways. First—the silent blush—hold your breath and count up to 55. Second—to blush and talk both—twist your heads tightly and insert your fingers between the beads and the carotid artery. The involuntary blush seems gone with the wind—or rouge.

Answer to Question No. 2—

2. Volumes have been written and hundreds of laboratories all over the world are now working to try to answer this question. We don't know much about it because we don't know much about what causes "strength" and "weakness." By and large I think modern bio-

Inventory Your Personality

Knowledge of your Emotional and Personality traits is of great value to you. Dr. Wiggam has persuaded one of America's greatest Universities to permit the offer of the Personality Schedule used by it in determining personality strengths and weaknesses of college students. This Personality Schedule was prepared by one of America's leading psychologists. It contains 220 scientifically tested questions designed to measure your Personality. A method of self-testing is provided. Knowing your strengths and weaknesses equips you for self-improvement. This Personality Schedule is yours upon request accompanied by stamped (3c) self-addressed return envelope, together with 10c in coin to cover actual costs. Address Dr. Albert E. Wiggam, care of this newspaper.

logy would say the tendency is for strength to overcome weakness—at least partially. But if the factors that cause the "strength" in the strong parent are what are called "dominant" in heredity the children will tend to inherit the strength factors, but if the weakness factors are of the "dominant" type, as they sometimes are then the children would inherit the weakness factors.

Answer to Question No. 3—

3. I doubt that philosophy ever made anybody happy. When a young man of 22, I took a post graduate course in modern philosophy and it got me so worried about the nature of the Absolute, "the four-fold root of sufficient reason"—whatever that is—and "on-screwing the inscrutable" generally, that it nearly ruined my digestion. At any rate, as William James said, "Philosophy is not for everybody." Like hypnotism and alcohol the least most people monkey with it the better.

Compton's Woman's Club Enjoys Trip

The Compton Woman's club starts its year's program with a trip. This annual fall trip, planned by the committee, consisting of Mrs. Ruth Ogilvie and Mrs. Mildred Olson, was Saturday, Oct. 2.

A group of thirty-four ladies left in a bus chartered for this trip. The first place visited was the J. W. Bade & Co. factory at Aurora, which makes dresses, smocks, and aprons.

They were first shown the different styles of dresses, smocks and aprons made by them, and said their garments carries the Colonial Silver Seal; then they were conducted through the work rooms, and shown step by step how the dresses were made; first the drafting of dress patterns for different sizes. The goods was laid out in desired lengths so that they could be cut out two dozen dresses at one time with the cutting machine.

The manager or girls at work making button holes, and sewing on demonstrated the machines used in buttons, blind hems, pinking the seams, overcasting, tucking, ruffling, double piper, zigzag stitch, bias binding, etc.

They buy twenty cones of thread at a time, six to twelve thousand yards. They were shown the stock shop where different garments were placed on shelves according to sizes, etc. ready to be sent out to the customers.

After visiting the factory they continued on to Naperville where they visited Bond's greenhouse, which specializes in growing orchids. They have seven thousand plants in this collection. These plants require lots of moisture during the growing season and sprayed several or eight times a day. The flowers from these plants are sold from $1.50 to $2.00 apiece.

At 1 o'clock the ladies enjoyed luncheon at the Cardinal Cuisine. After luncheon, the last place to be visited was the Arboretum at Lisle, Ill. The ladies were invited to go through the Administration building while waiting for the bus to take them through the grounds. In this building are the administrative offices, information bureaus, library and herbarium.

The Morton Arboretum was founded Dec. 14, 1922 by Joy Morton, son of J. Sterling Morton, the founder of Arbor Day. It is a foundation devoted to practical scientific research in horticulture and arboriculture, particularly in the growth and culture of the trees and shrubs of the world able to support the climate of northern Illinois. It is a tract of over 700 acres of partly wooded land made accessible by well marked system of roads foot paths.

There are approximately 4500 species, varieties and hybrids included in the living plant collection.

All their meals were served in a private dining car for the boys and the carriers were from all over Illinois and they earned this trip by getting new subscribers for the paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Hopps, Mr. and Mrs. Dalia Geiger and Clifford Hopps motored to Waterloo, Ia., Sunday morning in order to attend the funeral of their uncle Wallace Rendall.

Mrs. John Pope and daughter Joan, Mrs. Nettie Williams, Mrs. A. D. Steckel and son and Mrs. Faye Rambo spent Friday in LaSalle.

A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Albert Tourtillot of Dixon on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond were Sunday dinner guests of her mother, Mrs. Hattie Moorehouse of Mendota.

Rochelle News

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle.—The bell in the belfry of Central school failed to ring today for the first time in 67 years when school was in session. Central school was vacated and students were assigned to St. Patrick's parochial school, Lincoln school, and Rochelle Town and Country club lounge on half day schedules. Sam Hansen, for forty-four years janitor at Central school was assigned to St. Patrick's parochial school.

Notices to the parents of the children in the Rochelle elementary schools set forth the following time and place schedule.

The moving of the contents of the Central school is under way. Please check carefully the following program:

Grades 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6—Central.

Arrangements have been made to rent the parochial school for half-day sessions; thus insuring your children a safe place in which to hold school. Students will report at 12:30 and will be dismissed at 4:30. The program has been so arranged as to take advantage of the gymnasium in the parochial school for recreation and rest periods. Children will not report to school Monday afternoon, Oct. 11. They will report again for regular work at the parochial school, Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 October 12. Please do not allow them to come to school before 12:30.

Grades 7 and 8, junior high school.

Junior high school students will be housed in the Lincoln school. Students will report at 12:30 and be dismissed at 4:30. Children will not report to school Tuesday, Oct. 12. They will report to the Lincoln school, Wednesday afternoon, October 13, at 12:30. Please do not allow them to come to school before 12:30.

Grades 1-2, Lincoln (Miss Thompson).

The Country Club lounge, a beautiful, large room, has been redecorated and equipped for the first and second grade Lincoln (Miss Thompson, teacher). School hours are the regular time 9:00 to 11:30 A. M. and 1:15 to 3:30 P. M. Children will not report to school Tuesday morning, October

Brain Twizzlers

By

PROF. J. D. FLINT

At a holiday dinner there were eleven persons. For dessert they had a plum pudding and a pumpkin pie. Each of these could be divided into four parts and no more. Five of the eleven people can eat the plum pudding but will not eat the pie while four will eat the pie but will not eat the plum pudding.

In how many different ways might the servings be made?

The Professor warns you that you are apt to be 40 off in your answer if you are not careful of duplication in groupings.

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler

The pond was 12 feet deep. If a cross-section of the pond is drawn a right-angle triangle is formed by the reed in its upright position, in its angle position and a line from the center of the pond to the side. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

12. They will report to the Country Club, Tuesday afternoon at 1:15.

Grades 2-3; 3-4 Lincoln (Miss Royce, Miss Tambling).

Children in grades 2-3 Lincoln (Miss Royce, teacher) will meet at the regular time at the Lincoln school—9:00-11:30 A. M. and 1:15 to 3:30 P. M. Children in grades 3-4 Lincoln (Miss Tambling, teacher) will meet at the regular time at the Lincoln school—9:00 to 11:40 A. M. and the Lincoln school under the regular time schedule.

Grades 5-6, Lincoln (Miss Conlon).

Children in grades 5-6 Lincoln (Miss Conlon, teacher) will meet in the Lincoln school from 8:00 o'clock to 12 o'clock. They will not have school in the afternoon. Children will not report to school on Tuesday. They will report to school Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

Telephones: Superintendent's office, Lincoln school 20-W.

Health and Physical Education office, Lincoln School 129.

Grades 1-6, Central, parochial school 20M.

Grades 1-2, Lincoln, Country Club, 226W.

On Wednesday, or soon after it is expected that Guy Hawkins, contractor of Jacksonville, Ill., will start dismantling Central school for clearance of site preparatory to the erection of the new $172,000 school building. Central school which for many years served as a high school was erected in 1870 by W. F. Bushnell & Co., and is believed to be the oldest school building in the state.

FACES KIDNAPING CHARGES

Estancia, N. M., Oct. 13—(AP)—W. H. Gregory and J. H. Bassett have been brought here to face charges of kidnaping and robbing a Chicago tourist and his wife near Palma, Oct. 1.

Sheriff J. Frank Stephens, bringing the men from Williams, Ariz., where they were captured, lodged them in Torrence county jail pending a hearing.

They were accused of holding up, robbing and making captive for several hours Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lund.

Animated displays of national parks and other western scenic features will fill the Vacationland palace of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on San Francisco.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowd movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and makes you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Engine oil too, squirms through

Quicker Oiling - Quicker Starting with WINTER OIL-PLATING

You know that your engine must be oiled instantly throughout, or be tortured at every cold start.

You can imagine trying to rush cold oil everywhere at once, through scores of tiny oil-holes and passages.

How long before lubricant gets to where it is badly needed?

Less than no time at all!...with Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented.

This is the Winter oil that gives you far greater surety than mere fast flow. It OIL-PLATES your engine.

Before any other oils can even start to go where needed, exclusive OIL-PLATING has already arrived! In fact, it's been there all the time, because Germ Process action on all moving parts leaves them lastingly OIL-PLATED.

OIL-PLATING cannot drain down. It smooths and speeds the first turn of your ice-cold engine. Saves battery juice. And you save quarts of oil this Winter, by changing now to Germ Processed at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's.

Write for "The Story of Oil-Plating", Dept. 1, Conoco, Ponca City, Okla.

CAST OF CHARACTERS PRISCILLA PIERCE—heroine, young woman attorney. AMY KERR—Cilly's roommate and murderer's victim. HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's strange visitor. STURGEON DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday, Dolan persisted in his theory that Kerr is the murderer. Meantime he tells Cilly that the man involved in fiction's strange affair is young Billy Har- mon, brother of the girl in whom Hutchins has long been inter- ested.

CHAPTER XXIV

CILLY looked around her living room curiously. It was exactly as she had left it that morn- ing, yet there was some subtle difference. Then she saw it. The copy of "The Last Puritan," on her end table. The book had a blue outside front cover, which clashed with the green and red of the living room. It was a silly thing to do, but she always turned the book upside down, so that the yellow back cover showed. Yellow blends much more harm- oniously with green and red. Some- one had been in this apartment and picked up that book. Some- one who had been very careful. The book was in exactly the same place she had left it, but it had been turned right side up. Prob- ably not another person in a hun- dred would have noticed the change. It was just that Cilly had a sixth sense of color, much more intense than the average.

She stepped back toward the foyer, a little nervous at first, and flooded the kitchen with light. Then she walked to the bedroom, lighting the way before her. No- body was in the apartment now, that was certain. But somebody had been there. She was sure of it. Somebody had searched the place very thoroughly.

She recalled the pleasant way Sergeant Dolan had ended the interview that morning. "See here, Miss Pierce," he had said, "you've been worrying too much about this case. You need a little relaxation. So do I, for that matter. . . . Tell you what, I'm going to take you over to the St. George for lunch, and then you're going to a movie."

SO that was it. How nicely he had put it over! Quite unsus- pecting, and not a little pleased to have company at lunch, she had agreed to his plan. She had spent three hours at the theater. (Ser- geant Dolan had left her there alone because he had some other important work) while the police very thoroughly and very pain- takingly searched her apartment.

vs. Mary I. Kehoe et als General Number 1156 In Chancery

To Cleo Hubel, W. H. Leffelman, Grace Williams, Harry C. Leffelman, Lyla Leffelman, Vivian Leffelman and Merrill Hubel, defend- ants.

Affidavit showing that the de- fendants, Cleo Hubel, W. H. Leffelman, Grace Williams, Harry C. Leffelman, Vivian Leffelman and Merrill Hubel reside out of this state so that process can not be served upon said defendants or either of them, having been filed in the office of the clerk of this Court, notice is hereby given to said defendants and each of them that the plaintiff in the above en- titled cause filed his complaint in said cause on the 13th day of Oc- tober, 1937 and that said action is now pending and undetermined in said court, and that you, the said defendants, and each of you must file your answer or otherwise make your appearance in said action in said court on or before the third Monday in the month of November, 1937 and in the event that you or either of you fail to do so default may be entered against you or either of you on or after Novem- ber 15, 1937.

E. S. Rosecrans, Clerk of said Court. George C. Dixon, Plaintiff's Attorney.

Oct. 13-20-27

She smiled, nevertheless. The sergeant hadn't gained anything through his pleasant little ruse. There was nothing here for him to discover now. She congratulated herself on having burned Jim's postcard and the newspaper clipping Amy had clutched.

The front doorbell rang at that moment and Cilly went to answer it, wondering who could be calling on such an afternoon. It was Harry Hutchins.

"Hello, Priscilla!" he beamed brightly. "Thought it was such a rotten day that you'd appreciate company."

"How nice!" Cilly replied with- out warmth. She would have ap- preciated almost any company, but not Harry Hutchins. She led the way into the living room and offered him a chair with scant cordiality.

"I found a nice little place down on Shore Road where we can have dinner together," she said am- ably, assuming that the idea would delight any girl. "How does that suit you?"

"Not very well, I'm sorry to say," Cilly replied. She groaned for a hasty excuse, then gave up the idea. Why bother to make ex- cuses? Why not let him know once and for all that she did not want any association with him?

"I really planned to dine at home this evening—alone," she finished, with special emphasis on the last word.

As soon as the words were out, she felt a little ashamed of her rudeness, but Harry was com- pletely unruffled.

LOWERING his voice, he asked in a more gentle tone: "Any new developments in solving our unfortunate affair?"

"As far as I know," she said, elaborately casual, "the police have have discovered nothing of any importance. Of course, we've all been questioned thoroughly—the entire household was sum- moned to headquarters yesterday—but nothing came of it."

"Haven't they any suspects?" Cilly shrugged. "I suppose you might say we're all under sus- picion. Any man in the house could have done it."

"I read in last night's paper that someone actually said it happen."

"Yes. One of the tenants in the St. Ann, across the way, was sit- ting at the window just at that moment."

"Couldn't she identify the man?"

"Hardly. It was quite dark, you remember, and she saw him only for an instant, as one of the ship's searchlights passed over the roof." Harry shook his head wonder- ingly and sighed. "It's a tough case, all right," he admitted. "Poor Amy!"

He reached into his pocket for cigarettes, offered one to Cilly. "Do you know," he said with studied carelessness, "there's something back of all this."

"You think so?"

"REMEMBER," Harry remind- ed, "that you and I saw Amy in different lights. She frequently intimated to me that there was a cloud hanging over her life . . . some other man, of course." He flicked the ash from his cigar- ette with exaggerated nonchalance. Then: "Say, didn't it seem to you that she and Kerrigan were star- tled to see each other?"

"I suppose you're trying to tell me that Jim Kerrigan was the secret trouble in her life?" Cilly flared, with biting sarcasm. She was white with anger, not so much because of Hutchins' insistent questioning, but rather because he had come so close to the truth. What right did he have to dig into Jim's past?

"Now, Priscilla, I didn't say that!" he placated. "What I really thought . . ."

Cilly stood up. "I'm not in the least interested in your thoughts about anything," she said haugh- tily. "Neither do I intend to sit here and listen to your malicious gossip concerning the two people in the world who meant most to me. Now if you will be so kind as to excuse me . . ."

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered graciously. She turned her back on him and walked over to the window, wait- ing for him to go. He stepped out into the tiny foyer and picked up his hat and umbrella. At the same moment, the outside front doorbell rang. Cilly made a move to answer it.

"Don't bother!" Hutchins told her. "I believe that's the taxi for me. I ordered a cab, thinking you might join me."

He crossed the foyer and pressed the front door buzzer.

"Well, good evening, Priscilla," he said in parting. "Sorry about all this."

"Goodbye," Cilly corrected icily. She stood there for a moment after he had left, her brows knit together in puzzled consideration. Suddenly her eyes gleamed with a bright eagerness; she went swiftly into the bedroom and be- gan rummaging through her lower bureau drawer.

Man's Career as "Wife" Is Ended

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—The strange career in petticoats of Wil- liam H. Richeson, 26, who lived six years as the "wife" of a Brooklyn steamfitter, has ended.

STATES LESSEN RELIEF DOLE AS JOBS ARE FOUND

Associated Press Makes Survey of Relief Methods

Chicago, Oct. 13.—(AP)—States which open-heartedly doled out millions in relief to the depression army of unemployed are tightening the public purse-strings today as they watch the march back to jobs.

An Associated Press survey showed they are scrutinizing more minutely relief applicants' claims, summarily removing, in some cases, those deemed undeserving from relief rolls and concentrating more on public aid to groups like the aged, blind and dependent children.

Indiana's WPA Administrator, J. K. Jennings, put it this way: "We are weeding out unemployables, removing 'boondoggles' and trimming administrative expenses."

California recently decreed all able-bodied persons must work if suitable employment is available, or get off the "dole." Transients are ineligible for relief in Florida. Arizona removed 1,000 aliens from relief rolls, Louisiana is "cutting the problem to fit the cost."

Gov. Robert E. Quinn of Rhode Island said "we are going to make doubly certain we weed out from relief lists those who ought not to be getting public aid."

Maryland and Nebraska Commissions in Maryland and Nebraska planned exhaustive studies to formulate modern relief programs for later legislative sessions. Pennsylvania planned a permanent relief setup with $99,000,000 appropriated for 1937 to 1939, but had it somewhat upset by WPA curtailment.

Mississippi never contributed to direct relief but the governor expected to ask for a doubled appropriation in January for old age assistance. Colorado claimed its $45-a-month old age pension law effective September 1 was one of the highest in the nation. Alabama relief rolls include 10,000 old age pensioners, 5,000 dependent children families, 500 blind and 2,000 handicapped.

Dealing with old age relief, Maine planned a special legislative session; Massachusetts reduced the age limit from 70 to 65; New Hampshire is increasing its aid and Nevada is establishing an old age relief setup. The relief load is swelling from direct to aid for children, aged and blind in Maryland, Montana, Virginia and West Virginia.

Ohio and Tennessee Ohio on April 15 and Tennessee on July 1 turned the relief burden back to counties and local units. Texas reduced its rolls from the depression high of 400,000 to 150,000 and closed them but is raising an additional $1,500,000 for old age pensions, adult blind, dependent children.

Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois asked industry to find 15,000 jobs for relievers to end a crisis in which Chicago lacks $1,000,000 a month the rest of the year.

New York City, which itself spent $110,645,000 on relief in 1936 (plus WPA's $230,850,000 for a total of $341,495,000), prides itself on its "pay-as-you-go" basis and claims the highest per family allowance in the nation.

New York State The final report of the New York state temporary emergency relief administration said 5,000,000 persons, 40 per cent of the population or two out of every five persons, received aid at some time during the five years and eight months between Nov. 1, 1931, and June 30, 1937 when $1,155,314,101 was spent, or $90 per capita.

But that report said also that only 1,500,000 were still on relief, the other 3,500,000 apparently having become self-supporting again because "from the spring of 1936 the ebb of relief need has been of dramatic proportion."

A cheerful note of back-to-the-soil and self-aid came from Oklahoma, where relief clients planted gardens which yielded 300,000 pounds of fresh vegetables and were expected to produce nearly 3,000,000 pounds of potatoes this fall.

Asks Girl's Trial Be Postponed Until After Confinement

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Parents of Bernice Felton, 18, of Rockford, Ill., traveling companion of Lester Brockelhurst, asked Federal authorities here to postpone the girl's trial, scheduled to start Monday, because she is about to become a mother.

U. S. Commissioner W. M. Rankin said yesterday he received a letter from Miss Felton's mother, asking that the trial be postponed "until after my daughter's confinement."

The girl faces trial on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile across a state line.

She was acquitted of a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Victor A. Gates of Little Rock, for which Brockelhurst, her "crime tourist" companion, is under sentence of death.

The 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, travel experts believe, will bring about the greatest westward surge of visitors in history.

Hint to Duchess' U. S. Costumes

Giving an advance hint, perhaps, to part of the extensive and self-designed wardrobe which she is purchasing in Paris for her coming visit to the United States with her royal husband, the Duchess of Windsor is pictured here on the steps of the American Pavilion of the Paris Exposition. The unusual wool ensemble she is wearing includes a slim dress and figure-molding, collarless coat with scroll work of braid down the front. The braid also forms fasteners at the waistline. The dress, too, is collarless and has a stripe of white material down the front. The stripe divides at the bosom and becomes facing for the smartest of necklines. The ensemble is worn with an off-the-face hat and sables.

New Books

Librarian Maragret Scriven Puts Volumes in Service

Brentwood—Lutz.

Living Apart—Ayres.

Calamity Jane—Hueston.

Romances

Murderers of Monty—Richard Hull. Better than average mystery. Remembering Laughter—Stegner. A 154-page prize-winning novelette. When Margaret finds that her husband loves her younger sister she makes no sign and says nothing, and the three live a cold tragic life together.

City of Bells—Goudge. In spite of adverse critical reviews this book has gained a mouth-to-mouth popularity and remained among the best sellers for several weeks. It is a novel laid in an English cathedral town.

Witch in the Wilderness—Desmond Holdridge. The Diesel yacht "Witch" with a party of pleasure seekers aboard is taken far up the Amazon and is caught in the mud. The problems brought up by their forced stay and the clash of personalities make the story.

Best Plays of 1936-37—Mantle. Ten of last season's good plays. Famine—O'Flaherty. O'Flaherty calls the famine of 1845 the most important event in Irish history. It changed the history of the British Empire, it drove thousands of the Irish to America and it left Ireland in a depleted condition from which it is only now recovering. If "The Good Earth" is the novel that gives the reader an understanding of the Chinese, then "Famine" does the same for the Irish. Yet the book is not to be considered only as an historical novel. It is a compelling and honest story.

Europa in Limbo—Briffault. Robert Briffault has been known for years as an anthropologist and historian. His first novel "Europa," published last year, could be called a cultural history of Europe. The new one can be read as a sequel to the earlier one, but is a separate novel. It follows the life of Julian Bern and his lovely mistress, the Russian Princess Zena, from the outbreak of the World War through the feverish days after the armistice, and depicts the excesses of a ruling class that knew its knell had rung.

General Chiang Kai-Shek—Madame Kai-Shek. When General Chiang was kidnapped a year ago and held incommunicado for two weeks the world was agast, and never did quite understand what had happened. The general's wife, who was Wellesley-educated, hurried to his side and was with him during the negotiations for his release. Included in the short book are parts of the diary that the General kept during those eventful days.

Postage Stamp Catalogue 1938—More than 1100 compact pages of information about every stamp issued from 1840 to the present.

Massachusetts: A Guide. Describing and giving the history of nearly every city, town and village, covering the entire state in a series of automobile tours. More than a guide, the book is an encyclopedia of information on the history, geology, art, architecture, transportation industry, and wild life of the state. Beautifully illustrated with photographs.

1938 Book of Small Houses—New, authoritative, and practical guide book for prospective home builders. Information on selecting an architect, planning and designing, building and financing, landscaping and decorating. Illustrations and plans on every page. By the editors of the Architectural Forum.

For Children—Fifty new primers, easy enough for first graders, easy enough for first graders.

Treasure Trails in Art—Chandler. The author has for years entertained boys and girls at the Metropolitan Museum of Art with vivid accounts of the artists whose paintings hang there. Beautiful reproductions in color.

Barefoot Days—Wright. Adventure on a Southern plantation. Ages 9, 10, 11.

The Earth Changes.—Fascinating reading and accurate information on the physical aspect of the earth. Grades 7 and 8 and high school.

Hans Christmas of Elsinore—Kristoffersen. The story of a Danish boy who became flutist in the King's Guard. Grades 3, 4, 5.

Stage-Struck Seal—Hull. Adventures of Eleanor the elephant and Prudence the seal.

Boats—Pictures and information about them. Grades 3, 4, 5.

Children of America—Half-page pictures and half-page text on the history of America. Grades 3 and up.

Sled Dogs in Snowland—O'Brien. Dogs in Little America with Admiral Byrd, how they lived and what work they did. Grades 3 and up.

Homes of Long Ago. Homes of Today—For grades 4 and up.

Tale of a Trailer—Child life on a trailer. Grades 3 and up.

Coal—How it came to be, how it is mined, etc. Grades 4, 5, 6.

Wood—Lumber camps, uses of wood, reforestation.

Child Relates Story of Parents' Cruelty

Bath, Me., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A seven-year-old girl, Betty Seavey, still showing physical effects of a beating and scolding she said was inflicted by her mother and stepfather, finished a court recital of the details by rushing into the arms of her mother.

Recorder Gardner D. Deering held Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wheeler in $10,000 bail for grand jury action on charges of assault and battery, after hearing the girl, a police officer and Dr. Harry F. Morin, who treated her.

Police charged the Wheelers with beating Betty, branding her with a hot flatiron and then pouring scalding water on her hands. The girl left a hospital to attend the hearing.

A model, illustrating the various operation of the Columbia River salmon fishing industry is planned for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco.

ELECTRIC POWER REDUCES WATER PUMPING COST

Many Illinois Farmers Are Installing New Systems

Figured at half a cent an hour, the cost of pumping and carrying water by hand is still greater than the cost of performing the same work with automatic electric water service, including pumping equipment and piping, according to E. W. Lehmann, head of the department of agricultural engineering, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

With electric energy at 5 cents a kilowatt hour, a shallow-well pump under average conditions will pump 1,000 gallons of water at a cost of 6 cents, and a deep-well pump the same amount of water for 8.2 cents, Lehmann explained on the basis of computations made by the rural electrification administration.

Thus the cost of pumping 14,600 gallons of water a year for a farm household of five will range from 88 cents to $1.19 with power at the 5-cent rate. Five times this quantity of water will generally be used for household purposes where there is automatic electric service and complete plumbing, and even then the cost of operation will be less than 50 cents a month, it was explained.

Automatic electric water-service equipment with water piping extended to convenient faucets and plumbing fixtures will provide health protection in many ways. It will eliminate the danger of contamination through the use of water from open containers. It will make much easier washing, bathing and house cleaning.

Such a convenience will supply water for flushing plumbing fixtures with the consequent safe disposal of household wastes and eliminate the necessity for outdoor exposure in disposing of waste water and other wastes during periods of severe weather when body resistance is weakened.

The college of agriculture is co-operating with other state and federal agencies in working toward the spread of electric service to more Illinois farm homes, in order that more Illinois farmers and home-makers may enjoy automatic electric water service and other conveniences made possible by electricity.

POST OFFICE CLERK KEEPS POSTED ON SOCIETY

Augusta, Ga.—(AP)—It is the duty of one of the clerks at the Augusta post office to see that wedding gifts reach the right bride.

Such gift parcels, postal authorities say, fall in the class of articles frequently misdirected. For this reason a clerk is designated to spend a portion of his time scanning society pages, keeping up with who's marrying who. The policy, post office officials say, sometimes facilitates the delivery of wedding gifts.

All buildings for the 1939 World's Fair on San Francisco Bay must conform to the range of an "official color palette."

Leaders of Girl Scout Convention-Pilgrimage

National officers of the Girl Scout organization and their hostesses for the twenty-third annual convention, October 13-15, at Savannah, Ga., birthplace of the movement, include (top, left to right) Mrs. Herbert Hoover, national president; Mrs. William J. Babington Macaulay, of New York, chairman of the board of directors; (bottom, left to right) Mrs. G. Arthur Gordon, of Savannah, general convention chairman; Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, of New York, national director; Mrs. A. C. Nichols, commissioner of the Savannah Girl Scout Council. During the convention a memorial tablet to the late Juliette Low, founder of the organization in the United States, will be unveiled at the Savannah Girl Scout headquarters (upper center), which was given to the local organization by the founder.

PASTEURIZATION OF MILK PROVES AID TO HEALTH

No Case of Disease in Country Traced To This Fluid

Use of pasteurized milk is a cheap form of health insurance, especially during fall and winter when exposure to cold weather often tears down body resistance, according to B. F. Whitmore, extension specialist in dairy husbandry, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Out of 1,565 cases of disease attributed to milk in 32 communities last year, the latest report from the United States Public Health Service shows that every case was traced to the use of raw milk. Pasteurized milk did not cause one single case of sickness, Whitmore explained.

"Not even Grade A raw milk can be considered absolutely safe," he pointed out. "The report indicates that Grade A raw milk was found to be responsible for 14 of the 32 outbreaks and caused 853 or more than half of the 1,565 cases of sickness reported. More than half or 15 of the 28 deaths were in cases where the victims used Grade A raw milk."

Among the diseases for which raw milk was held responsible as the carrier of the causative agents the report listed typhoid, paratyphoid, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, gastro enteritis, enteritis and undulant fever.

Pasteurization is a process in which milk is subjected to a high temperature for a sufficient length of time usually 142½ degrees for 30 minutes which renders harmless any disease-causing organisms that are present. If properly managed, pasteurization has no effect on the taste of the milk. The process is named after Louis Pasteur, famous French scientist, who demonstrated that bacteria and other micro-organisms are the cause of many diseases.

Legal Experts Say Way Is Still Open To Challenge Black

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Some legal experts expressed the opinion the Supreme Court had left the way open for further challenges of Justice Hugo L. Black's eligibility.

The court ruled that Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, did not have sufficient interest in the outcome to warrant their attacks on the new justice's right to his seat.

This made it possible, in the opinion of some observers, for filing of new contest suits by litigants who might be directly interested.

Levitt and Kelly contended Black was ineligible constitutionally because there was no vacancy on the court and because the justice was a member of the Senate which increased the "emoluments" of justices by permitting them to retire at $20,000 a year after becoming 70 and serving 10 years.

Well versed in the business of dispensing glamour, naval recruiting officers are calling to the attention of likely recruits that the navy will play a prominent part in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

YEARS AGO Outstanding News of Dixon and Vicinity in the Past

50 YEARS AGO

George Page is having a pleasant time here with old friends and looking over the scenes of his boyhood about Dixon and Palmyra. He will spend a month in the country before returning to Switzerland.

Father Tracy returned last night from his journey east, much improved in health and in good spirits. Mr. Remmers, the well-known retired landlord of the Washington House, has moved into the Bartow place near the North Dixon depot. Mr. Remmers purchased this house recently.

25 YEARS AGO

Walton was the moccasin Catholic Sunday at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Catholic church by Bishop Muldoon of Rockford.

The addition to the blacksmith shop at the Grand Detour plow factory is about completed. Louis Pitcher and O. F. Goeke of this city were charged by bull moose while hunting in Canadian wilds, according to letter received by Dixon friends today.

The floor and hand rails of the new concrete bridge being constructed on the Rock Island road south of Nelson which collapsed recently are being repaired.

More than 4,000,000 visitors from east and north are expected to enter for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

PROPOSED FARM LEGISLATION TO WORK TWO WAYS

President Says It Will Stabilize Supply, Cut Living Cost

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Agriculture department officials were quick today to compare President Roosevelt's outline of an "all-weather" farm program with the "ever normal granary" advocated by Secretary Wallace.

They said price-depressing bumper crops and high food costs in the cities had doubled the emphasis on demands for its immediate enactment.

General farm legislation will have priority in the forthcoming special session of Congress under an agreement whereby Mr. Roosevelt approved 1937 cotton loans. That agreement pledged congressmen to take up a crop control bill as soon as they met again.

More than a year ago Wallace started hammering away for his granary system to store surplus corn, wheat, cotton, and other major farm products under a government loan system from bumper to poor seasons, in an effort to stabilize supplies and prices.

The public paid little attention, but since then the second largest American cotton crop in history and the largest wheat, corn and grain crops in recent years have pushed farm prices downward.

At the same time soaring prices of meats caused a strike in New York city and protests elsewhere.

Secretary Wallace has replied to the complaints of both farmers and housewives with the assertion his ever-normal granary is the solution.

A stable supply of corn, he said, would enable livestock producers to keep an ample supply of good beef and pork available at reasonable prices.

Power to control marketing and production, he told farmers, would avoid the downward swing in prices from bumper harvests.

President Outlines Program The President took note of the situation in his speech last night when he said:

"We must find a way to help the farmers to store up in years of plenty enough to avoid hardship in the years of scarcity."

"And when we have found that way... we shall also have found the way to protect the nation's food supply from the effects of the same fluctuation. We ought to have enough food at prices within the reach of the consuming public."

During the last month members of the Senate and House agriculture committees have been seeking to ascertain farm sentiment on the type of legislation desired. Bills will be offered, administration leaders hope, as soon as the special session begins.

The 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will be reached by ferry boat or by automobile via the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.
